ARMED MEN HOLD UP GAS STATION HERE

Threaten West Center Street Manager With Gun; Escape With $57.

LOOT DRAWER LEISURELY

Search for Money After Forcing Alfred Kohbarger To Lie on Floor.

Two men, armed with pistols, held up and robbed Alfred Kohbarger of 364 Girard avenue, attendant at Colonel's Gulf filling station at the corner of West Center and Garden streets last night shortly after midnight and escaped with $1[illegible] in cash and a check for $1[illegible].

According to Kohbarger, he was eating his lunch when two men, one about five feet seven inches and weighing 140 pounds and the other about five feet five inches and weighing 130, walked into the station from Garden street and asked the whereabouts of the rest room. When he attempted to answer they both drew pistols and informed him "This is a stickup."

Jabbed With Gun

One of the men walked behind Kohbarger and pushed his gun into his back while the other demanded that he open the cash drawer. While one was looting the cash drawer, the other took Kohbarger into a small battery room, forced him to lie on the floor, and robbed him of $13.

The two men took their time in looting the cash drawer, Kohbarger stated, taking everything that was in it. Not only did they take all the small silver and pennies but also all receipts and charge account tickets that were in the drawer. After giving Kohbarger a final warning to remain on the floor at least five minutes, they escaped.

The attendant immediately telephoned police from the station. Kohbarger said the police arrived about five minutes after the holdup and made a thorough search of the neighborhood. It is believed that the robbers did not have an automobile or if they did, it was not parked near the station.

Clothing Description

Both men wore brown felt hats, suede jackets and dark jackets, Kohbarger said, and looked to be between 20 and 22 years of age.

Following a search by Marion police, a description of the two men was broadcast by radio from the Marion sub-station of the State highway patrol.

RIZZO IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Verdict Returned Against Night Club Partner Accused of Liquor Sales to Minors.

DELIBERATES 8 MINUTES

One of Five Arrested in Raids Aug. 14; Another Defendant on Trial Today.

One of five defendants in alleged liquor law violation cases growing out of raids by state officers on two Marion night clubs Aug. 14 was found guilty of selling intoxicating liquor to minors by a municipal court jury yesterday afternoon.

The jury deliberated eight minutes in finding Carmello Rizzo, 56, of 256 Oak street, guilty of selling intoxicants to minors. Rizzo at the time of his arrest was a co-partner of A. O. Lambrose, 46, of 457 Silver street in operating the LeMar restaurant at 526 West Center street.

Lambrose had previously been found guilty of selling and furnishing liquor to minors and to intoxicated persons, when he acted as his own counsel at a hearing before Municipal Judge Martin. His sentence was deferred pending the trial of Rizzo. Yesterday Judge Martin delayed sentencing Rizzo for three days in order to give the defense counsel an opportunity to file a new trial motion. Attorneys for Rizzo said today that a motion for a new trial would be filed within that time.

Double Charge

Rizzo, as in the case of Lambrose, is charged both with selling intoxicants to minors and to intoxicated persons. When a defense motion to name the intoxicated persons to whom Rizzo is accused of selling liquor was sustained by Judge Martin yesterday, new affidavits naming them were drawn by City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart.

Rizzo pleaded not guilty to the charge of selling liquor to intoxicated persons and the hearing has not been set, Carhart said. Solicitor Carhart was notified today that

DUCE'S PIRACY PATROL STAND BRINGS IMPASSE

Paris, London Deadlocked Over Next Step in Face of Italian Protests.

SEND OUT MORE SHIPS

Destroyers Loaded With Bombs and Torpedoes Speed from England.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 16—Italian demands for Mediterranean equality were snared in a tense diplomatic impasse today while Anglo-French naval activity reached virtual wartime pitch.

Deadlocked over who should make the first move on Italy's protest that the international anti-piracy patrol put her in a back seat, Britain and France rushed a mighty concentration of war vessels and war planes on Italy's "mare nostrum"—our sea.

The first contingent of destroyers to reinforce the vast Anglo-French piracy patrol sped from England toward Europe's trouble-fraught "backyard."

Loaded With Bombs

The five long, narrow fighting craft carried triple loads of depth charges and a full supply of torpedoes with which, if necessary, to blast belligerent submarines out of Mediterranean trade routes.

The munitions cargoes were reminiscent of World war days when Britain battled to prevent German U-boats from cutting off her food supply.

Britain was building her Mediterranean fleet up to 80 ships, counting the 42 on regular duty. She and France, as her co-partner in that unprecedented job of policing main sea lanes, will have more than 150 vessels on guard against the undersea threat to European peace already menaced for 14 months by war on the Spanish peninsula.

Navy yard sailors worked day and night, loading tons of munitions on Britain's sleek fighters.

More to Sail Tomorrow

The job was completed in the early morning aboard four destroyers and one flotilla leader. Another four destroyers and another flotilla leader are expected to sail tomorrow with their deadly cargoes.

From one end of Britain to the other, bases rushed to recondition the entire naval reserve fleet which will be held in readiness for emergency.

Preparations were concentrated on destroyers, minelayers, minesweepers, net layers and auxiliary vessels which are best fitted for the kind of naval warfare Britain expects.

Her heavy battleships and battle cruisers already were in fighting trim.

A squadron of royal air force flying boats was poised at the Felixstowe base to take off tomorrow for Malta to be the "eyes" of Britain's pirate hunters. France already has ordered a huge aerial armada to Mediterranean duty. Bad weather forbade the takeoff from Felixstowe today.

Rearmament plans in the Lancashire area at Manchester, Salford, Oldham and Stockport were disrupted by a "children's strike." Seven thousand apprenticed youths quit work at aircraft plants in demands for 75 cents more pay each week.

Officials feared a serious delay in the filling of big government orders unless the strike were settled soon. Many journeymen were laid off because no work was available without the apprentices.

Borah To Address Masons on Constitution While Vandenberg Speaks in Michigan on "Republican Challenge."

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—President Roosevelt and two staunch opponents of his judiciary reorganization program will engage in a three-sided discussion this weekend which may add new fuel to the nationwide controversy over the supreme court.

Each will give a speech inspired by the observance tomorrow of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution.

Sen. Borah, Republican of Idaho, long recognized as an authority on constitutional law will lead off tonight at a Masonic meeting.

President Roosevelt's address, which may hold the key to his future court policies, will be delivered at the base of the Washington monument tomorrow night. It will be the principal celebration day rally.

Although there was no advance indication that any of the speeches will be a direct rebuttal to the others, they will represent widely divergent viewpoints. Consequently Washingtonians were referring to them as a "debate" which may draw issues carrying over into the 1938 congressional elections.

Mr. Roosevelt will regard some reorganization of the supreme court as desirable and he may weave his views on the Constitution into a discussion on current judicial questions.

Widespread interest in all these addresses is current discussion over the alleged Ku Klux Klan membership of Justice Hugo L. Black, whom the President recently nominated to the only supreme court vacancy which has occurred during the administration.

Grid Official Gives Talk On Rules Changes

Scholastic football rule changes for the 1937 season were reviewed last night by Francis W. Bacon, Marion's well-known collegiate official, at a meeting of high school coaches, officials and players from Marion and this district, held in assembly rooms at the Y. M. C. A.

Changes in kick-off regulations and the restriction against any player either intentionally or accidentally kicking the ball while it is in scrimmage play were brought out as the major rule changes in Bacon's talk and the open discussion.

Approximately 70 persons, including the Harding High football team, coaches and officials from the high school and three junior high schools, attended the meeting. Plans were made to hold several additional meetings to delve further into the intent and meaning of the present grid rules. It is likely that the next rules meeting will be held Sept. 21 at the Y. M. C. A., according to plans formulated last night.

In explaining the 1937 rules changes, Bacon pointed out that the major innovation is in regard to the kick-off play. If the ball after being kicked off goes out of bounds on the sidelines, it is put into play either at the 35 yard line or at the point where it went off the gridiron. The ball as in previous years must, however, travel 10 yards from the point of the kick-off and if it rolls over the goal line it is brought out to the 20-yard line to be put in play.

The kick-off rule has been designed to eliminate the second kick when the ball rolls over the sidelines, as has previously been the case. Any penalty inflicted on the kick-off, in the event that the ball goes over the sidelines is inflicted from the 35-yard line, Bacon pointed out.

BOOSTER'S PAGE IN STAR TODAY

A Harding High school football booster page, sponsored by a group of Marion merchants seeking to stimulate interest in the team's activities makes its first appearance in today's issue of The Star.

It will appear throughout the gridiron season on the day before each Harding game.

Today it appears on page 5, preliminary to the opening game of the season here Friday night with Mt. Gilead.

WPA PROGRAM FOR 375 WORKERS DISCUSSED HERE

City Signs for Women's Projects; Maps Out Men's Project at Conference in Mayor's Office.

Plans for employing Marion's some 375 WPA workers until next June 30 when, according to all indications, there is probability WPA will come to an end here, were discussed yesterday afternoon at a conference of city and WPA officials and WPA workers at the mayor's office.

Following a two-hour parley on city finances, the city signed a WPA sewing and clothing renovating project and a household aid project which will employ 72 women beginning about Nov. 15 and running until June 30. The cost of the two for the period stated will be $7,500 to the city.

Another project, contemplating street and sewer repairs, is now in the making and is expected to provide employment for more than 300 male WPA workers of the city until June. Present projects for men will continue until the new project can get under way.

Idle Period For Women

The women on WPA, however, face the prospect of unemployment after Sept. 25 since the courthouse cleaning project, the present 10-woman sewing project and the household training project, all are scheduled to end about that time, WPA officials stated.

Attending yesterday's conference were Mayor Smith, City Safety Service Director John V. Ruth, Clerk Harry Brookshire, Walter Johnson, WPA contact man for the city, James L. Kelly of Mt. Gilead, new director of WPA district No. 6; L. B. Paun, district supervisor of operations; D. E. Matheny, senior field engineer; G. W. Alsdorf, senior office engineer; Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, supervisor of women's and professional projects; Miss Joan O'Neill, county supervisor of women's and professional projects; John A. Fish, district assistant for women's and professional projects; and Harry Griffith, president of the Workers' Progressive League, John Martin and Joe Christian, members, making up a committee of workers. The meeting was called by Mr. Kelly.

Finances Explained

The mayor opened the conference with a statement of city's finances for WPA projects. Out of the $41,000 raised from the special mill and a half levy, $23,390.14 has been spent thus far, he said. An additional $3,300 has been appropriated for the Lincoln park stadium, leaving an unexpended balance of $14,509.86. The average monthly expenditure has been $2,406.

Further statements brought out that until next June 30 the city will have $20,500 more coming in from the levy, $5,000 from the gasoline tax, which with this year's balance will make approximately $40,000 to be spent on WPA.

Out of the $40,000 will come the $7,500 for the women's projects and approximately $7,000 to complete the present men's projects until about the middle of November. This will leave $25,500 to spend on the new men's construction project which is now being set up.

The WPA will pay $13,000 for labor on the household aid project which will cost the city less $500 for materials and will pay $13,000 for labor on the sewing project which will cost the city $7,000 in materials and supplies.

Study Adjustable

The city signed the two women's projects with the understanding that if the personnel estimates for women unfavorable due to approved costs on the men's projects the women's projects can be cut down later. They are set up to employ 30 women on sewing and 42 on household aid. Only [illegible] projects now [illegible] virtually all [illegible] that [illegible] a dozen [illegible]

CITY FILES APPEAL ON POLICE PENSION

First Rodeo Performance On Fair Program Tonight; Special Features Friday

3,500 Attendance Recorded Yesterday Expected To Be More Than Doubled Today; Youthful Drivers and Steeds Thrill 2,000 in Horse Pulling Contest.

Afternoon harness races and night fair rodeo entertainment took over the spotlight at the Marion county fair today following the windup of the junior horse pulling contest yesterday afternoon and last night, with nearly 2,000 spectators on hand to watch the final rounds of competition.

Fair officials placed yesterday's attendance at 3,500 and expected today's crowd to more than double that figure.

Today's features were the Kiwanis pet lamb show at 11 o'clock this morning, harness races this afternoon, music by the Baseler band of Waldo at 7:30 tonight; rodeo entertainment at 8 and fireworks at 9:30.

The Friday program, expected to be the biggest day of the fair, will include the colt show, starting at 9 o'clock, a junior fair home economics demonstration at 10 a. m., harness races at 1:30 p. m., a junior fair style show also at 1:30 p. m., a concert by the Eagles band at 7:30 p. m. with the rodeo performance and fireworks following. The livestock parade will be worked into the afternoon program at 3 between heats of races.

Girl Driver Acclaimed

At the first night program of the fair last night, the crowd cheered 11-year-old Imogene Croll of Pioneer, O., as she drove her father's team, King and Jim, to victory in the heavyweight division of the junior horse pulling contest, first event of its kind in Ohio.

The team, owned by Dr. William Croll of Pioneer, won the event by dragging a weighted sled weighing 6,300 pounds 27½ feet. The team could have gone farther but that would not have helped their score. It won over eight other contestants.

In the lightweight division, 17-year-old Dale Vincent of New Holland, O., drove Sam and Bill to victory to win over 16 other teams, shouting encouragement to the horses as they drew a 5,800 pound weight 27½ feet, an accomplishment that was surprisingly close to the feats of the heavyweight division teams. Sam and Bill are owned by Herbert Vincent of New Holland.

"Take It Away."

Those were the magic words used by most of the drivers to transform their teams from ordinary draft horses into tugging, straining animals that leaned so closely to the ground in their efforts to drag the heavy sled that their hoofs would tear out sections of the race track in front of the grandstand where the contest was staged.

Drivers Display Skill

The crowd cheered the juvenile drivers, and a number of experienced horsemen credited the "youngsters" with ability to "go just as much out of their teams as their daddies could." Each team obviously did its best in response to the shrill pleadings of the young drivers.

In the lightweight contest, which was run first, the sympathies of the crowd went early in the competition to tiny eight-year-old Roger Emery, driving Dick and Dowey, a team owned by R. J. Emery of West Alexandria, O. The boy's high-pitched cries of encouragement to his team rang out above the noise and confusion, and the team did its best but was eliminated before the last 100 pounds of concrete blocks were placed on the sled to select the winners. The team's best pull was 5,000 pounds.

CHANGES MIND

At her home in Hackettstown, N. She first "walked out" on the affair, claiming to have a bad cold. (International News Photo)

GOES TO HIGH STATE COURT

City Solicitor Raises Constitutional Questions Before Ohio Supreme Court.

Firemen's Test Suit Also To Be Carried Up from Appellate Court.

The city of Marion yesterday carried to the supreme court of Ohio the case of former Police Chief James W. Thompson, testing the legality of the city's abolition of the police pension system. In a few days the companion suit of Hilbert D. Uline, retired city fire captain, on behalf of the firemen's pension system will also be appealed by the city, City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart said.

As the legal controversy stands now, the police and firemen's pension system are held in full force and the city's abolition of them is deemed void as a result of the decision last month of the Third district court of appeals. The appellate court, on the appeal of Thompson and Uline, reversed Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young and found in favor of the service men.

In his notice of appeal, assignment of errors and precipe filed in the court of appeals yesterday, Mr. Carhart stated the appeal is "on questions of law involving debatable constitutional questions." A motion for the supreme court to certify the record was also filed. If the court declines to certify the record, the case is ended. If not, the court will then conduct a hearing on written arguments in the form of briefs and on oral arguments of attorneys. An additional brief may be filed by the city if the motion to certify is sustained, Mr. Carhart said.

Answer Brief Next Step

The next step in the Thompson case will be the filing of an answer brief by Attorney William P. Mahoney, counsel for Thompson. Mr. Carhart has ordered a complete record of the common pleas and appellate court entries made and submitted to the supreme court before Sept. 24.

The action which is asked of the supreme court by the city follows: "The appellant (city) prays that the judgment and decision of said court of appeals of Marion county may be reversed and judgment directed to be entered in said cause for the city of Marion, Ohio."

The constitutional questions which the city asks to be decided and the manner of decision are:

That the council had absolute power to repeal the Police pension system; that state laws providing for establishment of the systems in Ohio are contrary to Article II, Section 26, of the state constitution; that Thompson had no vested right in the pension; that the state laws authorizing pension systems illegally delegate power to the city and board of trustees of the pension fund and took property without due process of law, contrary to the federal Constitution.

Mr. Carhart opens his 25-page brief, which was filed in the supreme court at Columbus, with a recital of the history of the case. He relates how the pension system was established in 1920 and repealed in February of 1933. Thompson filed suit shortly afterward to test the abolition. His appellate request was the city be enjoined from spending $7,166.10 collected for payment of pensions for any other purpose.

FIND TRAIL OF STOLEN BIKES

Police of Marion and Three Other Cities Probe Theft Ring.

ONE SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Giving Marion Address Held at Shelby; Several Stolen Bicycles Recovered.

Police of four north-central Ohio cities, including Marion, launched an investigation today to determine the scope of a bicycle theft ring and what appeared to be an organized setup to dispose of stolen bicycles.

Marion police joined the inquiry yesterday when Police Chief S. E. Coffey of Shelby came here with information that resulted in recovery of three Marion bicycles sold in Shelby and identification of four bicycles in Marion which were stolen from other cities.

Shelby police are holding a man who said he made his home part of the time at a hotel in Marion, and said most of the information on which the investigation was based came through his admission. He was arrested in Shelby when he became suspected of stealing a bicycle, the Shelby chief said.

The Shelby chief and Marion police yesterday learned that three bicycles recovered by Shelby police belong to Eugene Stapleton of 463 Uncapher avenue, Jack Kennerly of 506 South Prospect street and Morris Kline Jr. of 291 Thew avenue, all having been stolen here early this month.

They also said four bicycles known to have been stolen were located in Marion. Of the four stolen vehicles, one had been sold to a Green Camp boy, another to a Lincoln avenue resident and one to an East Center street resident. The fourth was found in possession of a Marion dealer, they said. Of the four, one is known to have been stolen from Shelby and another from Ashland.

TAMMANY EYES FATE AT POLLS

La Guardia, Pro-New Dealer Foe of Copeland for Republican Nomination.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Sept. 16—Tammany's fate as a political force may be determined today by the vote of 1,000,000 enrolled Republicans and Democrats in a mayoralty primary contest of extraordinary bitterness.

The outcome of their election may also have far reaching import and national interest in both major parties. There are three major candidates:

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, Fusion, pro-new deal incumbent, is a candidate for the Republican nomination. His opponent is United States Sen Royal S. Copeland, foe of many new deal policies.

Sen. Copeland is also, as the designee of Tammany, a candidate for the Democratic nomination, where his only opponent is Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A. A. U., choice of the four pro-new deal Democratic borough leaders of the city (Tammany is restricted to Manhattan).

Thomas Unopposed

Norman Thomas is unopposed for the Socialist nomination.

A last minute development was the sudden growth, admittedly in Tammany strongholds, of a movement to write in LaGuardia's name on the Democratic ballots

Former Gov. Alfred E Smith in the windup speech in behalf of Copeland contented himself with an attack on the La Guardia administration for "high taxes" but made no mention of the Ku Klux Klan. Copeland campaign headquarters had announced he would discuss the subject but Smith said he had had no such intention.

The klan was injected into the campaign by Copeland following renewed charges that Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black was a member of the order. The senator asserted Mahoney, as a new dealer, was upholding the appointment of a member of the klan to the bench. Mahoney retorted that Copeland had received klan support in 1928. Copeland repudiated the klan following the announcement of Imperial Hiram W. Evans that he approved Copeland's candidacy.

All Forsee Victory

Each candidate confidently predicted his own election, and their supporters today produced the usual tables of figures to prove their claims of victory.

La Guardia, pro-new dealer and liberal, confined his primary campaign to a single speech to Republican woman in which he said he would not "beg" the Republican nomination and that he would campaign solely on a platform of "honest, efficient municipal government."

VICTIM TRICKS TRIO INTO POLICE HANDS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16—Police captured three robbers today as they ate breakfast with their victim, Fred L. Rahal, 26, president of the Sunshine Packing Corp. of Cleveland and Louisiana.

Rahal said he stopped his auto to watch a street fight and picked up a woman at the scene to drive her down town. A few blocks further on two men held him up. The woman jumped out of the car and ran away.

The men took a watch and ring which he said were keepsakes, along with $28. He offered to get the robbers $100 if they would return the jewelry. They agreed.

Rahal went to a hotel and cashed a check for $100 and at the same time slipped the hotel clerk a note saying he was being kidnaped and robbed.

The clerk notified police. A taxi driver heard the police radio broadcast and called them when he observed Rahal's big car in a district noted for its underworld haunts.

A third man had joined the robbers and an argument over the loot was under way when a police squad found them in a restaurant.

RELIEF REVENUE SEEN SUFFICIENT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 — A member of the joint legislative relief committee asserted today he believed the state could finance relief for the remainder of this year without drawing on general revenues.

In the face of a warning by Gov. Martin L. Davey that he would veto any relief legislation calling for the use of general funds, Sen Don R. Thomas, Democrat of Montgomery, said he thought excess utility revenues, variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $6,000,000, would be sufficient for relief needs.

FORMER CITY CLERK WINS COURT VERDICT

Appeals Tribunal Upholds Judge Young in Judgment Given for Powell Pay Cuts.

The Third district court of appeals at Lima today upheld the decision of Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young this spring in awarding John H. Powell of 701 Herman street, former city clerk, judgment of $555 in his effort to recover $824.35 in wage cuts and interest.

The decision had been appealed by the city. City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart said today he will consult council at its next meeting on the feasability of carrying the case to the state supreme court.

Judge Young last February decided the suit in favor of Powell when the city failed to produce salary waivers signed by him for all of 1933 and the last six months of 1934. Waivers were produced by the city for the first half of 1934 and wage cuts for this period were not restored to Powell.

The cuts were made by the city during 1933 and 1934 as an economy move. Powell contended his full salary was $1,800 a year and that he received only part of it.

The issue in the case was whether Powell signed salary waivers for the reduced pay for all the period. He denies signing any except for the first part of 1934 and that he signed these under protest.

The city contended Powell signed all the reduced pay vouchers which were marked "Received warrant for full amount of above claim."

LEWIS ACTS TO BAR INDIANA MINE STRIKE

By The Associated Press

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 16—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today notified Frank Barnhart, president of district 11, that he would send a committee of international officers to Indiana to make another effort to avert a threatened strike of 6,500 miners.

The committee, Lewis said, would be headed by John O'Leary. The international president's telegram did not say when the committee would arrive here.

Officers of district 11 had requested authority to call a strike after failing to reach an agreement with operators on a new wage scale.

The miners have demanded a $6 basic daily wage but the operators have held to a $5.57½ a day proposal.

TRUCKERS WITHOUT PERMITS CITED HERE

Three drivers of commercial vehicles were cited yesterday on charges of violating the state law by operating transportation services without obtaining a permit of authorization from the public utilities commission of Ohio. They are Floyd Sharp, 23, of Silver Spring, O., George Rush, 27, of Richwood and J. E. Jackson, 46, of Bellefontaine.

All were cited and brought to the Marion police station by John Birch, representative from the Columbus office of the utilities commission. Birch filed affidavits in municipal court accusing them of not obtaining a permit for transportation service which they were allegedly conducting. Each of the trio posted bond of $29.20 for appearance at a municipal court arraignment tomorrow.

RIZZO FOUND GUILTY IN LIQUOR SALE CASE

a hearing on the revocation of the liquor license issued to Lambrose and Rizzo is to be held before the state liquor control board in Columbus, Sept. 21. The possible revocation is outgrowth of the conviction of Lambrose, with the likelihood that the license will be revoked being increased by Rizzo's conviction yesterday, Carhart said.

Rizzo's trial got under way shortly after 1 o'clock and continued until 5:30. He was represented by Attorneys J. Wilbur Jacoby and James E. Reed. In the testimony two Marion boys, one 17 and the other 18, told the jury of their purchase of liquor at the LaMar restaurant. Mrs. Freeda Glenn, 22, of 161 St. Clair street, the waitress who is accused of serving the minors, was also called to testify. Mrs. Glenn is charged with violations similar to those lodged against Rizzo and Lambrose, but her hearing date has not yet been fixed.

Roth Trial Today

This morning the trial of S. C. Roth, 36, of the Elite apartments, manager of Stone's Grill at 119 South Main street, on a charge of selling liquor to minors under 21, got under way in municipal court. Roth, with Mrs. Henrietta Chanco, 28, of 134 East Church street, a waitress, were arrested in a raid conducted by state officers. Both previously entered pleas of not guilty. They are represented by Atty. Roy J. Stone of Columbus.

Members of the jury who heard the Rizzo case yesterday were Mrs. Velma Richie, E. G. Blow, Lloyd Ledley, Mrs. Merle Lashey, Harry Haberman, John Schmidt, Newell Davids, Leonard O. Evans, E. E. Wintringham, Charles Kelleher, Howard Ryan and Mrs. Katherine Courtad.

WPA PROGRAM FOR 375 OUTLINED HERE

ects because it marks the end of the WPA fiscal year, Director Kelly said it is highly probable WPA will close up permanently at that time

Mayor Smith stated in regard to the closing down of the present women's projects and the resultant lack of employment until Nov. 15, that the city had not been officially advised that the projects were closing. He said he regretted that the women must be without work for the two-month period, but that he did not believe it to be the city's fault. The county was notified early this summer, WPA officials said.

County Not Represented

Previously the county commissioners had sponsored the project. The commissioners were invited to the conference yesterday but did not appear. Mr. Kelly said they are also mapping a blanket program to employ some 140 county WPA workers until next June on road and bridge work.

The city's blanket project was originally set up earlier this summer at a total cost of $500,000 of which the city was to pay only a small part. It is being revised because it was "economically unsound," WPA officials said. If the new project should cost more than is expected the city may be forced to cut down on the women's projects which were signed yesterday.

The problem of how to distribute the clothing after it is made by the women also faces the city. It was agreed that only city residents can be employed on the project since it is being paid for out of the special city levy, but whether both city and rural residents should share in the clothing produced was not decided.

ARMS TAKEN FROM CHINA-BOUND SHIP

By The Associated Press

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 16—A crew of 12 longshoremen started unloading the 19 bombing planes from the China-bound freighter Wichita to a three hundred ton barge in the outer harbor here today.

What disposition would be made of the planes whether they would be stored here or loaded on another ship bound for the orient—could not be immediately determined.

The Wichita dropped anchor in the roadstead just inside the breakwater and several miles from port last night. A fueling barge was tied fast last night but whether the vessel had been refueled to continue its journey from New York was not learned.

BLACK'S DUAL OATH LEGALIZES POSITION

Pledge Before Senate Also Included Department of Justice Form.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — Charles E. Cropley, clerk of the supreme court, disclosed today that Hugo L. Black already has complied with the legal requirements of becoming a supreme court justice by taking a dual oath.

When Black on Aug 19 pledged to uphold the Constitution in taking the oath of office before C. F. Pace, senate financial clerk, Cropley said, he also subscribed to a printed department of justice form for use of federal judges

It contains besides the constitutional oath one pledging impartial administration of justice, and has been filed with the justice department.

Cropley added, however, that he assumed Justice Black will repeat the second oath at the bench when the supreme court begins its fall term on Oct. 4.

"It is always done," he said. "It is not a question of legal compliance but of custom"

Repercussions continued, meanwhile, over allegations that Justice Black is a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Sen. Clark, Democrat of Missouri, said in a statement he would not have voted to confirm Black's nomination "if I had been aware of his klan affiliations." Rep. McCormack, Republican of Massachusetts, urged a congressional injury into the justice's qualifications.

Sen. Bulow, Democrat of South Dakota, commented: "I know Black personally and he's a pretty nice fellow. Sen Bankhead, his colleague, assured me that Black had never been a member of the Klan."

Postmaster W. Cooper Green of Birmingham, Ala., associate manager of Black's 1932 senate campaign, made public a list of persons whom he said obtained government positions with Black's recommendation.

The list, he said, contained names of four Jews and nine Catholics. It demonstrated, he declared, that Black was "not religiously prejudiced."

The new justice, vacationing in England, remained silent on the charges. He is expected to return here before the term of court begins.

JAPANESE CRUISER IS REPORTED SUNK

HONGKONG, Sept. 16 — The claim that a Japanese cruiser had been sunk by Chinese airbombs off the south China coast was made today in Chinese reports from Canton—unconfirmed from other sources—of two successful air attacks on Japanese naval units.

Three Chinese bombers and two pursuit planes, the reports said, attacked a Japanese cruiser, three destroyers and a torpedo boat off the port of Swatow.

"Three large bombs struck the cruiser, which sank," an unconfirmed Canton dispatch asserted.

Spurned Subway Serenader Uses Caveman Style

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—It was bad enough when a subway troubadour crooned love songs in Elizabeth Smith's ear, but when he turned cave-man—well!

Miss Smith, 32, said the wandering minstrel, Thomas Diangelo, 23, a salesman, began singing the love lyrics shortly after the subway train pulled out of the Coney Island station.

"I'm In the Moo-oo-ood for Love," sang Diangelo.

Miss Smith, with a haunted look, left the train at the first station. Diangelo, she said, followed her.

"Me, Myself and I Are All in Love With Yu-oo-oo," he sang

"Please!" objected Miss Smith. Then, she said, her unsought troubadour stopped singing and struck her on the jaw. A policeman took him to court

"Was his singing any good?" asked Magistrate William O'Dwyer.

"No," said Miss Smith, positively, "it was not."

The magistrate held Diangelo under $500 bail on an assault charge.

DAVEY OKAY WAITED ON PAROLE JURIES

Duffy Ready To Call Jurors at Marysville, Mansfield and London.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—Only permission by Gov. Martin L. Davey remained today before Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy calls special grand juries in three counties to study the Ohio parole system.

The attorney general, submitting a report on his investigation, said he expected authority to be granted to call juries at Mansfield, location of the State Reformatory for men; in Union county, site of the Marysville Reformatory for Women; and in Madison county where the London Prison farm is located. He also had said he intended to call juries at Cleveland Youngstown, Canton and possibly Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo

The report referred especially to the part allegedly played by three paroled convicts in a gun fight near Springfield Sept. 3 in which two Springfield officers were killed.

Henry Dingledine, paroled convict held in connection with the shooting, was indicted yesterday by the Shelby county grand jury on a charge of robbing Dr. C. C. Hussey of Sidney.

His father, Harry Dingledine charged with murder, was reported seen Tuesday near Wapakoneta but authorities were unable to find him after James Kantner, a filling station attendant, said he believed Dingledine stopped for water.

Former Mayor Fred G. Gray of Springfield confirmed Duffy's report that Gray wrote a letter in 1935 recommending a parole for the younger Dingledine. He said two friends assured him they would see that Dingledine would "go straight."

"But I guess he didn't," Gray commented.

INSURGENTS RESUME ATTACK ON MADRID

By The Associated Press

MADRID, Sept. 16 — Insurgent shells pounded central Madrid at five-minute intervals today, killing several persons.

The bombardment came after two weeks of artillery inactivity. It began about 11 a. m., and there were some casualties before people in the downtown district could take cover.

Government guns replied to the fire, which came from nearby hills. There the insurgents have laid siege to Madrid for almost a year.

Several of the shells fell in the Moncloa district and near the national palace, where a famous collection of medieval armor was damaged

CHINA CHOLERA PLAGUE GROWS

Epidemic Spreads Through Foreign Sectors of War-Racked Shanghai.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Sept. 16—A cholera epidemic reaching grave proportions spread through the foreign sectors of this war-racked metropolis today, striking down more than 100 additional victims overnight.

The sweep of the dread plague raised the number of cases in the international settlement and the French concession alone to 76. There are an additional 1,400 suspected cases in the two areas.

In the Chinese sections of the city, where war refugees have been huddled together without even the most primitive sanitary provisions the number of cases was believed in the thousands. Because of conditions it has been impossible even to estimate the number of cases outside the settlement and the French concession.

Population Doubled

The great number of those stricken are Chinese who have been forced into Shanghai from the war zones ringing the city. The native population of the foreign sectors has been almost doubled by the tragic army of homeless civilians. Only a few foreigners have been affected.

Chinese counterattacked in force today from the center of their strong Shanghai defense line and drove the Japanese from battle-scarred Lotien, 15 miles northwest of the international settlement.

Despite a steady downpour of rain, the Chinese troops were said to have broken a mechanized Japanese attack. Counter-charging, they drove out the Japanese who had entered the town with armored cars and tanks.

The Chinese spokesman said that the heavy rain had slackened activities along the entire 30-mile front from Shanghai's north station northwest to the Yangtze river. The Japanese, he said, were having great difficulty moving their motorized units through the mud-mired roads.

6 CITY COUNCILMEN FACE BRIBE CHARGES

Seized in Council Chambers in Connection With Garbage Disposal Contracts.

By The Associated Press

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 16—Six members of the nine-man municipal council in this central West Virginia city of 30,000 were held today on charges of bribery in connection with a garbage disposal contract.

State policemen and Sheriff Moore M. Reynolds of Harrison county seized the men in council chambers last night and whisked them off to nearby Fairmont for questioning.

State Trooper E. C. Musgrave said the men would be returned today to Clarksburg for a hearing before Magistrate Jesse Jones, who issued the warrants charging bribery.

Musgrave said he posed for two weeks as a garbage contractor interested in bidding on a proposed new garbage disposal system and each of the councilmen demanded $1,500, or a total of $9,000, for the contract. He added:

"You have got to explain to them your contract before you can obtain their vote and I did that, of course, and their demands were quite considerable."

Mrs. R. E. Copeland was called to Stewart, Sunday, by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Charlton.

What To Do-

If You Can't Remember Names

1. If you are a chronic forgetter and being introduced to a new acquaintance, look the person in the eye and repeat his name immediately with emphasis.

2. If you have a strong memory—as nine-tenths of us have—but it's temporarily inhibited, stop trying so intensely to remember the elusive name. It's more likely to come if you relax and think of something else.

3. If your memory really has grown weak, try to recapture the name by associating it with surrounding conditions.

By The Associated Press

This is the system of Dr. George W. Hartmann, a professor of educational psychology at Columbia University's Teachers' College in New York City.

Most cases are covered by No. 2. Chronic forgetters are rare. Mostly they're in the same situation as the college professor who has to forget the names of former students because others have come to take their places. It's not a matter of bad memory, Dr. Hartmann calls it knowing what to forget. And that's permissible.

You can't separate memory from learning, he says. Memory fails where learning has been inadequate. That's why it's important to repeat the name of the person you're meeting. The more sensory channels you can employ in association with that name, the better. See how it looks on paper. Say it out loud.

People who never slip up on a name, says the professor, are either good learners—or they're interested in people. A combination of the two is unbeatable.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Olga Suspects Philip Veritzen Wants His Son to Desert Mary for Olina.

AS QUEEN OLGA finished her charge—astounding from her lips, but already suspected by us—that Philip Veritzen was planning to send his son's marriage on the rocks in order that Noel might eventually marry Princess Olina, Lillian muttered a picturesque but venomous objurgation, with Philip Veritzen as the subject of her choler. Then she threw up her head and put a crisp question to Olga.

"I gather that you do not approve his plan. Will you tell me your reasons? Although we can guess some of them, I have a fancy to hear you run them over."

Queen Olga considered for a moment, looking out her window at the lapping waves against the sea wall. Then she stiffened with decision.

"Let me get out of the way first," she said, "the one reason which you no doubt think is paramount with me. It is not Noel Veritzen's lack of birth to which I object. If I thought Olina could be happy, without depriving another woman of happiness, I should say no word.

"But she never could be happy with him, even if she loved him, and I am sure she does not. Here are some of the reasons."

The slender, graceful fingers of her right hand ticked off the reasons against the palm of her left hand as she went on speaking with a steady, unemotional voice.

"Even if her heart were engaged, Noel is married. Her church does not recognize divorce. There is an insuperable obstacle there.

"Noel does not care for her; would never care for her as long as Mary is in his life. Even if she were not, I do not believe he would be attracted by Olina. She is not the type of woman that has an allure for him.

"As for Olina, I am sure that though they are estranged temporarily, she and Georges genuinely care for each other. And I know my daughter. She needs a stronger hand than Noel's would be. Georges is the ideal for her type.

Frivolous Girl.

"But," Queen Olga's voice was suddenly troubled, "she is frivolous, like most young girls. She is also, I am afraid, a bit ruthless, because of her youth. I am worried—just now Noel is the only young man on her horizon—"

"The only game in town," Lillian murmured, and laughed a bit ruefully at the invalid's bewildered look.

"It's a threadbare yarn about the man who was asked why he played at a gambling place when he knew the wheel was 'fixed,' with no possible chance of winning. 'Hell!' he answered, 'but it's the only game in town.'"

"Very fit, indeed," she said. "But you can see, can you not, that I must thwart any possible plan that Noel's father may have for his son and Olina?"

"And he has plenty!" Lillian commented.

Olga looked at her, startled.

"What do you know?" she asked.

Lillian looked at me inquiringly. "Please tell her," I said. "I am too nearly concerned in the problem to speak calmly."

Knows of Madge's Work.

Lillian grinned impishly at me, but Queen Olga gave me a serious, searching look before she turned attentive eyes on Lillian.

"Has Phil told you," Lillian began, "that this lady"—she sent an airy gesture in my direction—"is a gifted playwright?"

"Oh, yes," Queen Olga said. "He has been most enthusiastic over her work. He has told me that he hopes soon to resume the rehearsals of her play which circumstances interrupted."

She halted abruptly and looked at me.

"Did he stop those rehearsals because of me—of my plight?" she asked.

Acne.

ACNE is often referred to as the bane of youth. It certainly is an annoying and distressing affliction of the skin, causing great personal embarrassment. Since acne attacks young boys and girls at the period they are most sensitive, it has an unpleasant influence on the future of the young sufferer.

Contrary to common belief, acne is not an incurable affliction. In fact, early attention means prompt cure. It is only when it is neglected that relief is more difficult.

In acne there is a greasy and unhealthy appearance of the skin. It appears dirty, and, in many instances, I am sorry to say, it is dirty. Any portion of the body may be involved but, as a rule, the face, neck and back are the regions covered with unsightly pimples and blackheads.

If the condition is neglected and the skin is not cared for as it should be, small pustules, which are collections of pus, may appear. If these pustules are scratched or constantly irritated by being picked at, permanent disfiguring scars may result. The disturbance may spread to other portions of the body.

Although the actual cause of acne is not known, undoubtedly it is associated with some glandular change in the body. That change may accompany poor hygienic habits, lack of exercise, lack of body cleanliness, as well as faulty diet and constipation. No one of these factors should be overlooked.

To have a good skin there should be daily evacuation. To this end it is wise to avoid fried and greasy foods, excessive quantities of salt, peppers, spices and pickles. Candy, pastries and rich desserts should not be included in the diet. The sufferer from acne should be encouraged to drink copious amounts of water, at least six to eight glasses daily. He should make sure the diet contains adequate amounts of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Exposure to the sunlight is beneficial in many forms of acne. The ultra-violet ray has a soothing and beneficial action in removing the tendency to these unsightly pimples. But it is hopeless to depend on sunlight or lamp treatments without first correcting the underlying causes I have outlined. Cleanliness of the skin, actually scrubbing it with soap and water, will do wonders.

As I have said, the condition may be associated with some glandular disturbance so likely to be present in the growing and developing young person. This is especially so in young women. Sometimes the doctor may consider it advisable that certain glandular extracts be given. Of course, this medication can only be given under medical supervision.

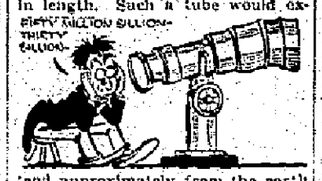
IT'S ODD
But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Writer.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Wonder what an astronomer thinks about? Here is the thought of one inspired by looking at the star Sirius, brightest in the heavens except the planets.

"Imagine, if you can," this astronomer writes anonymously in The Telescope, "a tube one foot in diameter and fifty million miles in length. Such a tube would extend approximately from the earth to Sirius."



Coming down such an imaginary tube to your eye the light of Sirius takes nine years to make the journey.

"In all this great tube," the astronomer goes on, "would be found only one-tenth of a gram of substance, just about the equivalent of the air in your ink bottle."

He means that this is all the matter outside the earth's atmosphere, which extends only a few hundred miles toward Sirius.

That ink bottle full of gas, spread all the way from here to Sirius, the astronomer thinks is a good, practical illustration of a vacuum.

Wines are given the appearance of age in France for customers who are not experts in their flavors by dusting the bottles with a fine powder and having them surrounded with webs by spiders.

Switzerland has required that imports of fresh fruits, trees, shrubs, plants and parts of plants must be accompanied by sanitary certificates attesting freedom from parasites and diseases.

Bridal Shower Is Given for Sorority Head

GAMMA MU CHAPTER of Delta Theta Tau sorority honored the president, Miss Kathryn Zachman, with a pre-nuptial shower last evening at the home of Mrs. Sam Myers on Girard avenue.

Miss Zachman's marriage Sunday to William E. Keller will take her to Toledo to live and last evening she called a brief business session to present the gavel to her successor, Mrs. Newell T. Minard, and to appoint Miss Mary Cook corresponding secretary to succeed Miss Garnet Thomasson who is now living in Cleveland.

The sorority colors of green and white and Miss Zachman's wedding colors of coral and blue were used in the appointments for the party. A corsage of roses presented to Miss Zachman was showered with ribbons to which were tied small cards directing her to her gifts. Among the gifts was the chapter's gift.

Miss Louise Foreman and Mrs. Virgil Heatze won the awards for high scores in bridge. Mrs. Robert Shupp and Mrs. Howard Baker of Galion, Mrs. Arthur Zachman of Chicago, Mrs. Dick Crissinger of Detroit and Miss Margaret Wagner of Mansfield were out-of-town guests.

WRONG? Well, yes—and no. The arithmetic of your school days taught that "If Mary had five dollars and spent two..." three dollars remained.
But that is mathematics—not shopping! In managing a home...guarding a limited family income... we've simply got to do better than Mary did. We must sharpen our buying wits...ascertain where the dollars of extra value lurk...take five dollars to town and get much more for the money spent.
Fortunately, there are ever-willing guides right at hand—the advertisements in this newspaper. Advertised merchandise is often exceptional value merchandise. It makes dollars S-T-R-E-T-C-H.

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

(Copyright by Hulbert Footner)

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, finds his beloved Janet locked in a cabin on Prescott Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor. With her are a gun and Fanning's freshly shot body. Neill joins her nearby in a diamond lake, then joins Mark Bonniger, local investigator, to keep tab on developments. He thinks Janet shot the swindler until he learns a man was hiding on the yacht. Then he suspects queer little Evvie, who hated Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and Ira Buckles, a tough who trails Neill. A fisherman finds part of Fanning's money that Neill threw away in anger.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

Searching The Ships

"Well," continued Bonniger, upon the supposition that the packet was thrown or dropped in the river last night, I started figuring the time of the tide and the rate of flow. And my calculations suggest that it had made a trip down the river and was on the way back again. If I am right, the fugitives are still in the neighborhood and they dropped this packet in the river at a point some distance north of where it was found. Well, what's up there? Nothing but the abandoned ships. I'm getting ready to search them."

Neill felt as if all the ground had suddenly been cut form under his feet. He had to say something, and quickly. "That's a job!"

"You're right. That's what I have brought in the police for. I'm going to take half a dozen of the steadiest men in the village also. Kettering will be with us. And I'm counting on you, of course."

Neill could not refuse to go. He drew a long breath to steady his voice: "It will soon be dark. You should wait until morning."

"It's dark anyhow inside the ships. We can search them as well by night as by day."

Neill could say nothing more.

Bonniger arranged to have his party of 16 men carried up the road in three cars at intervals of five minutes in order not to attract too much attention in the village. Bonniger himself and Neill went in the first car. Neill, taken by surprise and having no time to plan anything, rode like a man who had received a blow on the head.

All my own fault, he thought. If I had not pitched the money overboard, Janet would still be safe.

The Skiff Gone, Too

Captain Bickel, who had been notified by telephone of their coming, was waiting on the shore. He said: "I borrowed an additional skiff from the farmer up the beach to save time."

This was another setback for Neill. If he was able to separate himself from the party, he counted on using that skiff himself.

Bonniger and Neill were rowed to the Montpelier. Gradually the whole party assembled on the forward deck. Virgil, leathery faced and bright eyed, was there chewing his cigar, also Kettering, going about and making up to everybody. It made Neill sore to see how all these men were enjoying the situation. As Virgil put it:

"A man-hunt is the greatest sport of all, boys."

Bonniger proceeded to post his men at salient points about the ships. A guard was stationed on the forward bridge of each vessel and another on the after bridge. From these positions they overlooked the lower decks. He also placed a man on each of the three gangways that connected the vessels. Everybody was provided with a powerful flashlight. Bickel and his three men brought the force up to 20.

No cupboard or corner escaped attention.

While they waited for Bonniger to complete these arrangements, Kettering approached Neill. "Have any luck in town?"

"None whatever," said Neill.

Kettering lowered his voice. "Gosh! I certainly feel for you in this situation, Wheatley. The strain must be awful!"

This gave Neill a nasty start. So Kettering knew, too. How many spies were there around him? Keeping his face, he said: "I don't get you, Mr. Kettering."

"Oh, you don't have to keep that up with me," said Kettering. "I'm on your side. If there's any trick we could pull together, you have only to say the word."

Neill silently cursed. "I don't know what you are driving at."

"Well, I am sorry you won't trust me," said Kettering. "I would help you if I could."

The men being posted, the leaders of the party went into Captain Bickel's cabin to study the plans of the ships. Bonniger said: "We'll start searching on this ship."

"Is it likely they would hide so close to me?" asked Bickel.

"The ladder is on this ship," said Bonniger. "How else could they get aboard or leave?"

Neill breathed easier. This gave him a little time.

Much Too Good a Plan

Bonniger spread out the cabin plans of the Montpelier. In addition to her public rooms, she had a couple of hundred sleeping cabins strung along the five decks.

"We need 50 men to do this right," grumbled Wilson. "It's worse than mine galleries."

"We'll do with what we have," said Bonniger. "We'll start at the top and work down. Notice that there are five sets of stairways. A guard must be put on each so that while we are going down one stairway our couple can't be running up another. Wilson, Longcope, Wheatley and I will do the actual searching. On the lower decks we'll divide forces and one pair take the starboard cabins, the other port. As we finish each deck, I'll blow a whistle and everybody will move one flight down the stairways together. Thus if they are aboard this ship we are bound to trap them on the lowest deck."

Everybody approved this plan. It was much too good a plan to suit Neill; it quadrupled his difficulties. However, his mind had begun to work again, and a scheme was beginning to take shape. Before they left Bickel's cabin he took a look at the plan of the Abraham Lincoln. The little verandas of Janet's cabin, he saw, was under the twelfth window on the promenade deck, counting from the bow.

The Montpelier was searched from bridge to keel in the manner laid out by Bonniger. On the lowest decks, Wilson and Neill were told off together. Wilson was a good police officer, not brainy but conscientious. No cupboard, no corner, no recess escaped his attention. He flashed his light under every bunk. Neill was bored and jumpy because the search dragged so. He thought: This cop would get a jolt if he knew the man he was looking for was helping him look!

When they finished with the Montpelier and passed over to the Montmorencie it was about nine o'clock and as dark as it would get. Neill kept looking at his watch in such a manner that Bonniger's attention was attracted.

"What are you worrying about the time for?" he asked.

Neill drew him aside from the others. "I'll have to leave you for awhile," he said. "I'm sorry. I saw my chief in Washington this afternoon. Some departmental business has come up, and he said he might have to call me at 9:30."

"Sorry to lose you," said Bonniger, "but it can't be helped. I'll take the man off the second gangway to put in your place."

Neill rejoins Janet, tomorrow, hoping to dodge the searchers.

A man is never so happy as when he is giving a woman "advice"—and he is always "advising" some woman about something.

When a woman marries a man, she acquires an authentic human edition of the "Encyclopedia Britannica" that can "tell her all about everything"—and insists on doing it!

Some children can't take calomel, and some women can't take advice. The latter are always either spinsters until they are 40—or divorcees before they are 30.

A man may admire an intelligent woman, but the woman he loves is the one who hangs on to his coat-lapel and begs him to tell her "all about" something she knows more about than he does.

The average man could accomplish twice as much in this world if he did not spend half his life telling a woman how to do things.

After a woman, through her intuition and ingenuity, has found out how to do something, a man can always stand around and tell her a better way of doing it. Before marriage, it is rather thrilling to discover that a big, beautiful, wonderful mentality you have captured, it makes you feel so little and tender and helpless. But after marriage, you discover that his solicitude was not inspired by love of you—but by love of "giving advice."

Every husband is a little "efficiency expert" in the home! He can tell a woman about how Europe could pay her war debt, while he is wondering where the money for the next quarterly payment on his income tax is coming from.

He can expound the whole philosophy of getting "service" out of the cook and the tradesmen, while he holds up the work down at his office. He can come in, two hours late for dinner, and deliver a beautiful homily on how to control the nerves and how to keep the food hot.

He can deliver a lecture on system while you are hunting for his hat and his briefcase in the morning—and a thesis on orderliness and method while you are trying to find the screw-driver he left in the medicine closet, or sweeping up the cigaret stubs he threw out on the porch.

He is never so brilliant in his diatribes on how to economize on tomato catsup and dried apricots as on the morning after he has lost the mortgage money in a game of poker.

He marries a woman because he thinks he has found the One Phu-Perfect Being in all the world—and then spends the rest of his life in trying to "improve" her.

A woman will take a lot of things from the man she loves—from his money to his brow-beating—but the one thing she has to take, if she wants the man, is his advice!

Harding Awaits Opener With Mt. Gilead Friday Night

OBSERVERS PREDICT GOOD 1937 SEASON; STUDENTS TO RALLY

Coach Cramer To Work Out Team Under Lights Tonight at Stadium.

Harding High school's grid men, tapering off two weeks of strenuous practice with a three-hour drill and scrimmage under the floodlights tonight, will have both barrels loaded for the season opener Friday night, when the Mt. Gilead High eleven invades Harding stadium.

Coach Carl Cramer sent his huskies through a light workout late yesterday afternoon and following a "skull" session on rules last night, the varsity candidates were given their call for the final tapering off practice from 5 to 6 o'clock tonight.

Meanwhile plans for a rousing pre-game parade and a student rally at an assembly in Harding High school this morning, were being completed. Enthusiasm was running high among the players and student body this morning as the eleventh hour preceding the season's inaugural approached.

Game time for the first clash of the 1937 season has been set at 8 o'clock, with the pre-game parade scheduled to start from the Central Junior High school an hour before. The 50-piece band, resplendent in new uniforms acquired last year, will parade through the uptown district and lead the way to the field. At half-time the band will parade on the gridiron.

No Predictions Yet

Coach Cramer today was reluctant to issue any pre-game statement on the possible strength of this year's Harding team. While the head coach awaited his proteges performance against Mt. Gilead, before applying a measuring stick to their ability, other close observers lost no time in predicting a successful season.

With nine returning lettermen and a host of reserve material, Marion should be able to put a tough aggregation on the gridiron, is the consensus of opinion among followers of the team who have witnessed the workouts. The line of the Harding team boosted by the 222½ pounds of co-Captain Jack Stephenson, will average slightly over 168, while Marion's probable backfield combination will have a weight average of only a pound less.

Coach Cramer gave no indication which players will receive his call for the starting positions tomorrow night, but revealed this morning that all of the regulars were in tip-top shape and eagerly awaiting the opening gun. Except for a few minor sprains and bruises the athletes have not been bothered by injuries during the two-week training season.

Although Marion's probable line-up was in doubt this morning, the nucleus of the club which faces Mt. Gilead will be built around returning veterans. Likely choices for the starting positions, together with their weights, follow: ends John McConnell, 154, and Raymond Hudson, 157; tackles co-captain Jack Stephenson, 222½ and Charles Baker, 155; guards, Dick Kennerly, 159 and Glenn Winternute, 148; center, co-captain Paul Fick; halfbacks, Carlos Frasier, 164 and John Williams, 163; quarterback, Howard Diehl, 132 and fullback, Jack Zeisler, 182.

33 On Varsity Team

Thirty-three athletes will compose the entire varsity team, with the strong possibility that many of the others may be shifted into the line-up either during or at the start of the clash with Mt. Gilead. Among the others who are likely to see action in tomorrow night's

Here's How To Win Downtown Coach's Praise

Here is the third of a series of five booster sketches by one of Marion's best known and most enthusiastic sports fans, written to help rally Marionites to support of the Harding High school football team during the coming season, expected to be one of the most successful in years.

By DAN L. LaMARCHE

In this series of giving the home town boys the hand they deserve, let's listen to the fellow on the curb. Maybe he's not so important as he thinks he is. Maybe he doesn't know very much about football. But he stands on the curb. And he votes. And he has his say-so. Let's call him the 'downtown coach!'

In other words, here the lay-fan who comes to the game and passes judgment. Maybe he isn't even 10 per cent right half the time because he has his prejudices, but he knows what he wants, and if he doesn't get what he wants, he tells the world about his troubles.

He is never generous, but he KNOWS what he wants and if the school doesn't give it to him all the time, it's too bad for—the school!

When the team doesn't win, he doesn't pick on the players but the coach feels the lash of his criticism. Maybe he admits the coach isn't wholly at fault, and our downtown Coach hunts for other evils.

The search goes deep. Talk becomes gossip. Everyone hears what goes on inside the school, and gossip does a lot of damage. That isn't fair of course, but too often the gossip has been reasonably accurate.

His criticizes the forces that have picked the coach and he condemns those who have the power to pick the coach—and his unofficial inquiry involves the school's ruling forces—the head of it, the superintendent, and all the others who hold the destinies of this school and our new stadium in their hands.

If they haven't been right in the past, let them be right now. Here we are with everything set for a big year—a good coach, a fine team, a new stadium, a great field. It must be Marion's year!

Let's go! And let's give our "downtown coach" no chance to adversely criticize this year!

SCHMIDT GETS NEW CONTRACT AT STATE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—L. W. St. John, athletic director at Ohio State university, disclosed today that although Football Coach Francis Schmidt has signed a one-year contract there was an "unwritten agreement" that he would be in charge of the Bucks for three more seasons.

"Coach Schmidt is a member of the faculty," St. John said, "and faculty contracts are made for one year. The athletic board and I asked Coach Schmidt whether he would remain three more years, and Coach Schmidt said he would."

Schmidt came to Ohio State in 1934 from Texas Christian university.

NEW DENISON MENTOR

By The Associated Press

GRANVILLE, O., Sept. 16—George Hand, star halfback on the University of West Virginia football teams of 1926-27-28, today was named freshman football coach at Denison university where he has taught economics for the past two years.

DANNING FIND AIDS GIANT CHANCES FOR SENIOR LOOP TITLE

New York Sinks Pirates, 7-2; Cubs Win Over Bees, 5-2.

BY OID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Around and about in the baseball business today they're saying the luckiest thing that happened to the Giants this year was the injury that put their first-string catcher, Gus Mancuso, in the hospital back in July.

If Gus hadn't been laid up with a broken finger, the Giants never would have "found" Harry (The Hawk) Danning—who had been warming the Giant bench for only six years.

And if they hadn't come across Harry, it is extremely doubtful the Giants would be up there sporting a 2½-game lead for the National league pennant at this writing.

And from the moment he put on his mask and pad, the pitching began to look up. For instance, there were Prince Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert, who had been about as much use as a couple of bats with holes in them. Since Harry began handling them, Schumacher has started nine games, completed seven and won six, while Gumbert has taken half a dozen decisions.

Schumacher did it again with Danning yesterday. He turned in a net nine-hit effort while his mates clubbed the Pirates, 7-2. Since the Cubs also won their game, taking a 5-2 decision from the Bees behind Curt Davis' six-hitter, the pennant situation remained as was, in this form:

	W	L	GB	GP
Cubs	81	52		41
Giants	81	52		41
Cubs	80	56	2½	18

The Yankees had their American league lead shaved to 9½ games over the Tigers. They split a twin bill with the Cleveland Indians, taking the nightcap 3-1 with Monte Pearson pitching a four-hitter, while the Tribe came through 5-4, in the ten-inning opener, although Bob Feller was belted to the showers. The Tigers won their single game with the Senators, 4-3, on the strength of a three-run rally in the ninth.

The White Sox got to Lefty Grove and topped the Red Sox, 5-3. The Athletics took their opener, 8-2, from St. Louis but dropped the nightcap, 3-1, as Bill Trotter won his first victory of the year.

The Cincinnati Reds routed the Dodgers, 6-0, in their opener, and then dropped the afterpiece, 8-5. The Phillies and Cardinals went 13 innings to a 6-all draw before darkness halted the proceedings.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

CURT DAVIS, Cubs—Allowed six hits in 5-2 win over Bees.

ODELL HALE, Indians, and MONTE PEARSON and DON HEFFNER, Yankees—Hale hit two doubles and drove in three runs, including winning run in 10th in 5-4 opener victory. Pearson pitched four-hitter, fanning seven and Heffner hit double single, driving in two runs, in 3-1 nightcap decision.

GENE SCHOTT, Reds and BABE PHELPS, Dodgers—Schott blanked Dodgers 6-0 with six hits in opener. Phelps drove in three runs with two singles in 8-5 nightcap victory.

JOYNER WHITE, Tigers—Drove in two runs to beat Senators 4-3.

HAL SCHUMACHER, Giants—Allowed nine hits in beating Pirates 7-2.

LIP RADCLIFF, White Sox—His double and single drove in two runs in 5-4 win over Red Sox.

ALMON WILLIAMS, Athletics, and BILL TROTTER, Browns—Williams pitched seven-hitter for 5-2 opener win. Trotter fanned four, allowed seven hits to take nightcap 3-1.

1937 GRID RULES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—In case it has slipped your mind, they've changed the football rules again.

At its 1937 meeting, the rules committee was anything but radical. But there are four things you fans must remember.

1. Kickoff—only one will be allowed. If the ball is kicked out of bounds, it is to be put in play by opponents on their own 35-yard line, or 10 yards in from the point where it crossed the sideline—whichever is more advantageous.

2. Numbers—are required on both front and back of all players.

3. Receivers—of forward passes get less protection. "It must be remembered that defensive players have as much right to the ball as the eligible opponents and bodily contact, however severe, between players who are making a bona fide attempt to catch or bat the ball shall not be construed at interference."

4. A free ball—is kicked only with the foot. We knew this all the time, but the committee clarified the rule against kicking a ball by saying: "A free ball strikes a portion of a player's body other than his feet. This is not to be considered as kicking." And there will be no penalty—even if a player pushes the ball with his nose for 40 yards.

ST. MARY, SHOVEL KEYED FOR TITLE GAME FRIDAY

Contenders for the 1937 city softball championship, St. Mary of Sunday school league No. 2 and and Marion Steam Shovel of the Industrial circuit, will clash tomorrow night at 6 o'clock on the Lincoln park diamond, with the all-important title at stake.

Both teams are keyed to a fever pitch as they impatiently await the play-off game and they are expected to be at their season's peak for the decisive battle of the "Little World Series." The Diggers, by virtue of their pair of victories in previous series encounters, might have had the edge for the deciding game, but after the Irish waded to the final round by walloping Wesley, 8 to 1, the teams will meet on even terms.

The Shovel club, however, won its first round game with the Irish, 9 to 3, giving its followers plenty of foundation for their championship hopes. In the second game, Wesley fell before the Diggers, 3 to 2, when a seventh-inning home run off the bat of Howard Jones, broke a 2-2 deadlock. In the first meeting of the losers, Wesley and St. Mary battled to a 1-1 tie before their game was called by darkness at the end of five innings. St. Mary conquered the Wesleyans by the lopsided 8 to 1, count Tuesday night, to win the right to enter the final championship competition.

An electrical process has been developed for coloring aluminum and making the metal non-corrosive, and insulated against currents up to 500 volts.

FIRST ST. MARY GRID TEAM IN 13 YEARS BEGINS PLAY TODAY

Twenty-Three Irish Travel to LaRue For Season Opening Game.

St. Mary High school's football team, its first grid representative in 13 years, was to open its current season this afternoon with a practice game at LaRue, scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. Coach Bob Kelly, who pronounced his proteges ready for action following a brief drill session yesterday afternoon, was to direct his team's invasion of the neighboring scholastic field.

The team, composed of 23 potential varsity men, was to leave Marion early this afternoon for a warm-up session on the LaRue field before game time. All of the candidates seemed likely to get an opportunity to break into the line-up as Coach Kelly seeks to select his first string line-up from the players performance against outside opposition.

At present, four other games are on the fall schedule, with the likelihood that other contests will be booked if suitable opponents are available. The team's only home game which is definitely carded will be played in Marion when the Fostoria St. Wendelin eleven comes here Nov. 5. St. Mary will travel to Tiffin Calvert, Crestline and Carey.

CINCY GRIDDERS WORK

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—Coach Russ Cohen sent two squads against his University of Cincinnati frosh team yesterday and when the workout was over he still was undecided which team he would send against Morehead State Teachers' college of Kentucky Saturday night.

JUNIOR HIGH GRIDDERS PLAN 6-GAME SCHEDULE

Six games will comprise the city junior high football program which is scheduled to open a week from this afternoon. It was announced following a meeting yesterday noon as coaches and principals of the junior high three schools—Thomas A. Edison, Central and Vernon Heights.

Vernon and Central teams will clash on the Harding stadium turf next Thursday at 4 o'clock in the opening encounter, and the teams will play a round-robin affair with each club meeting each other team twice during the season. Edison's team, champions of the city junior league last year, will be idle until Sept. 30, when they meet the Central eleven.

The opening of the season will mark the second year that organized football has been carried in the city's junior high schools. At all the schools prospective members have been practicing for the past week, with the exception of Edison, where the workouts began early this week. Carl Brickley, succeeds C. H. Hance, as coach of the Edison grid aggregation and 42 youthful athletes are working out under his direction.

J. Eugene Auld is in charge of the Vernon Heights team, 24 candidates answering the daily call for workouts. At Central Howard Hoffman is in charge of his squad of candidates is composed of 30 athletes. Each of the three schools have complete new equipment and this year for the first time, the entire program is handled entirely by the junior high officials.

Eligibility rules that bar a player who was 16 years old before Sept. 1, govern the junior high games. All games have been scheduled on Thursday afternoons and will extend over a six-week period. Admission prices of 10 cents for school children and 20 cents for adults, will be charged for the contests.

The complete schedule follows: Sept. 23—Vernon vs Central; Sept. 30—Central vs Edison; Oct. 7—Edison vs Vernon; Oct. 14—Central vs Edison; Oct. 21—Central vs Vernon; Oct. 28—Edison vs Vernon.

COLUMBUS DROPS 4-3 CONTEST TO MILLERS IN PLAYOFF SERIES

Post-Season Tilts Now Even as Toledo Outslugs Brewers, 6-5.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—The American association playoff situation took a right back where it started with home runs responsible.

The Minneapolis Millers, thanks to a fourth inning home run by Stanley Spence which accounted for their 4 to 3 victory last night, were all square with the league champion Columbus Red Birds, and Toledo, with the help of a pair of round-trippers by Babe Herman and one by Bob Coleman defeated Milwaukee 6 to 5, in a rousing 10-inning struggle to even their series.

Spence's smash broke up a fine pitching battle between Belve Bean of the Millers, and Johnny Chamberlain of the flock, and nullified great hitting by Enos Slaughter, the league's champion batsman. Slaughter hit a homer with a man on in the third and produced a single in the fifth to drive in the second Columbus run.

Herman's first homer helped keep the Mud Hens in the battle, and Coleman's tied the score in the sixth. The Babe stepped up in the tenth with a man on, after Milwaukee had scored a run in its half of the extra frame, and banged the ball out of the park for the winning runs.

BIDS POUR IN FOR REDS MANAGERSHIP

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15—General Manager Warren C. Giles' problems over candidates for the Cincinnati Reds managerial post left vacant by the release of Charlie Dressen were complicated today by a pile of applications ranging from an 18-year old boy to a man in Canada who was confident he could pull the Rhinelanders out of the coal hole.

Giles said a youth from New York had written that "from a business standpoint it would be a ten-strike to have an 18-year-old youngster to head the team."

Diamond veterans who applied included Herman Bell, one-time big league hurler, Jim Bottomley, former Redleg, and Max Carey, former Brooklyn pilot. Giles also had bids from a man identified as a Mr. Edwards of Kingston, Ont., and a Mr. Holler of Dayton, O.

Galion Varsity To Play Night Game Friday

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 15 — Under the new flood lights at Heise park gridiron, Galion High school Orangemen will meet Willard High school football men for the first game of the season Friday. A record crowd is expected for the first football game in Galion under lights.

Coach Robert Corry has been drilling his men hard this week with scrimmages under the lights Monday and Tuesday nights, an ease-up practice Wednesday afternoon, and a night practice Thursday.

Corry will have 12 lettermen against seven on Coach Dave Query's team of Willard.

Several Galion players have been suffering with minor injuries this week, but it is expected the team will be in shape Friday night.

HARDING PREPARING FOR FRIDAY OPENER

game are Ralph Howard and Sydney Clark, ends; Ray Stout, Sydney Gast, Bill Decker and Taylor, tackles; Bob Dombaugh, James Hoch, John Gracely and Gene Williams, guards; Merlin Mitton and Rolland Beach, centers; Joseph Benedict, Dick Miller, Lee Shackleford, Riley and Walters, halfbacks; Warren Childs and Clayton Harper, quarterbacks; Joseph Caprino, Jack Barford and Robert Castner, fullbacks.

From Mt. Gilead comes the report that Coach Carl Hopkins will send a fairly heavy but not too experienced team here tomorrow night. Two regular backfield men, Weller at full and England at one of the half positions, return from last season and Kubbs at quarter and Lee at the other half, have had little game experience.

Two regulars from the 1936 team will be in the line and the team is expected to overage between 150 and 160 pounds in both line and backfield. The probable Mt. Gilead starting line follows: Talmage and Burson, ends; Smith and McClelland, tackles; Blayney and Wolfe, guards; Wright, center; England and Lee, halfbacks; Kubbs, quarterback and Weller, fullback.

Schmidt Cooking Up New State Style For Opener

By WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—Francis A. Schmidt, who taught the "razzle dazzle" style of football offense at Texas Christian before he brought it to Ohio State, is cooking up a new lesson in trickery for the Texans.

The lesson will be ready by Sept. 25 when Texas Christian goes to Ohio State for the Buckeyes' opening game of the season. Knowing the boys from the great southwest are familiar with the razzle dazzle as he taught it in Texas, Schmidt is priming his men with variations which he hopes will fool an exceptionally strong opening-day opponent.

Nick Wasylik, a halfback by trade, probably will be the head man of the Buckeye attack. Schmidt has assigned him to the duty of calling signals from his position, the double duty having been necessary by the death of Bill Booth and ineligibility of others on whom Schmidt had counted.

Minnesota's Gophers held another touchdown parade yesterday, the varsity romping through a mixture of third and fourth stringers for seven scores. Wilbur Moore, a right halfback, was the standout, getting away for four touchdown runs of 40 yards or more. At Illinois, Bob Zuppke's selected squad of 22 men engaged in a 30-minute scrimmage that resulted in three touchdowns for the regulars.

Michigan and Northwestern concentrated on aerial offensive maneuvers and Indiana spent a session on pass defense. Captain Don Heap, Bernie Jefferson and Jack Ryan did some accurate passing for the defending champion Wildcats, while Starke Ritchie and Norman Purucker handled the bulk of the tossing for the Michigans.

Coach Bo McMillin decided to get an early start on developing Indiana's air defense, remembering that all but one of the touchdowns scored against the Hoosiers in 1936 was accomplished by passes.

Four Purdue teams went through long scrimmage, with Tony Juska, junior fullback, again attracting Coach Mal Elward's attention. Iowa whipped through its first scrimmage with Coach Irl Tubbs using a backfield composed of Nile Kinnick, Al Schenk, Buss Dean and Bush Lamb, the latter the only veteran.

Wisconsin's varsity looked spotty in an offensive scrimmage, but managed five touchdowns, three of them by Ralph Mosher, 195-pound halfback. Chicago's reserve material was depleted when Bart Warshaw, a 220-pound guard, who transferred from a junior college, was declared ineligible for not having put in a year of residence.

Coach Elmer Layden scouted his sophomores and non-letter winners for varsity possibilities at Notre Dame.

Wolverines are made ONLY of SHELL HORSEHIDE—from just that section of the hide over the horse's hips containing the tough inner-shell. Leading leather authorities have long considered it the toughest—strongest of leathers. Wolverine's patent tripletanning process keeps this shell leather as it is soft, pliable as buckskin, yet retains all its extra strength and wearing qualities.

And making after soaking it always dries out soft—and stays soft. Only Wolverines are made of this shell-leather, in both solid and uppers. Come in today and try on a pair.

CITY FILES APPEAL ON POLICE PENSIONS

different cities. He argues that pension boards in various cities can make their own rules.

3. Is a police pension a vested right?

Mr. Carhart points out that Mr. Thompson entered the force in 1908 and served to 1926 without assurance of receiving a pension upon retirement. He charges Mr. Thompson obviously did not enter the force with a view to retiring on a pension. Numerous court opinions are cited in support of his contention that it is not a vested right.

4. Have the state laws authorizing pension systems illegally delegated power to make laws to the city and police pension board?

Has Delegation of Authority

He contends the legislature cannot give away its legislative power or delegate it to cities. He points out that if such delegation were possible, then the right of referendum and repeal would soon be useless since the legislature would have given up its legislative powers. He contends that the state laws do not set up adequate rules by which the pension systems should be governed, but leaves them to the discretion of local pension boards. He argues that not even the council of Marion has any control over the pension board under the present laws.

Among cases and decisions cited in support of his contention, Mr. Carhart mentions the NRA decision in the federal supreme court in which it was held that code-making authority was illegally delegated by congress.

5. Do the state laws authorizing pensions take property of the city without due process of law in violation of the federal Constitution?

He states that the laws require the city to levy a .3 mill levy for pensions and takes properly illegally. Mr. Carhart points out that pensions must be paid even though they extend beyond the amount collected under the levy and that the city must pay the extra money from its operating expenses. He contends that in a few years the pension payments will amount to so much that other services of the government will be severely jeopardized.

"Men who after 20 to 25 years on the police department retire at an age of around 45 to 55 still have considerable life expectancy. If the city of Marion, Ohio, cannot repeal the pension fund, pension payments will soon become the primary obligation of the city which it cannot control or curtail in any manner," the city solicitor contends.

Error Charges Listed

There were eight charges of error listed by Mr. Carhart in the court of appeals decision:

1. In not affirming the judgment of the common pleas court. 2. In not affirming the common pleas court and in finding that the lower court's decision was contrary to law and evidence. 3. In finding the repealing ordinance is void. 4. In finding the original ordinance creating the pension system is in full effect. 5. In ruling that state laws authorizing pensions are effective in Marion and are valid laws. 6. In finding the same state laws are constitutional. 7. In finding the state laws do not take property without due process of law. 8. In finding that the police pension fund is valid under statutory law.

Transcripts of Judge Young's decision favoring the city and the court of appeals' two-to-one decision favoring Thompson were also filed in the supreme court.

Attractions for Feminine Eye Are Many and Varied in Array of Rural Groups' Exhibits at County Fair

By BALLIE HOUCK.

THE granges of Marion county and the 4-H club and home economics girls of the county schools have the Marion county fair displays to attract the women. Those women, that is, who go in for needlework and canning; not those who thoroughly enjoy the livestock and farm machinery.

The grange displays are where the fairgoer finds rich evidence of the lavish generosity of nature this year. Fruits, vegetables—fresh and canned—grain and flowers are in abundance.

One of the displays features a cornucopia and pouring forth are vegetables and fruits in an abundance and variety to make the visitor pause a moment in realization of the fine harvest of 1937. Each grange vies for the distinction of the best display and the results are beautiful against backgrounds of gay crepe paper festoons.

The junior fair, which includes the exhibits of the girls and boys in the county school groups, is growing in size and interest each year.

Needlework Attractive.

Girls of the 4-H clubs have one of the finest displays of any year. Their needlework — embroidery, dresses, lingerie, and knitting—is particularly outstanding and among the displays is the costume worn by Anna Jane Wintore of Kirkpatrick when she was judged the best-dressed 4-H club girl in the county. With a dress of deep red rough crepe which she made herself, she wore a black velvet hat and black accessories. The smartly simple dress has a narrow turn-down collar of eggshell satin.

The names of the 4-H clubs are something in themselves: The Ritzy Stitchers, Rip and Tear, Stitch and Chatter, Happy Hustlers, Nimble Thimble, Busy Workers, Out-to-Win, Rosie Posie Pioneers.

Cakes, jellies, canned goods and cookies are eye-filling and appetite-teasing exhibits made by the home economics girls from the various schools. It was whispered confidentially to a willing ear that the judge said she could not find one cake in the lot that wasn't of prize-winning caliber. Such is the caliber of Marion county's future cooks.

Friday Feature.

A feature of the fair Friday will be home economics demonstrations at 10 a. m. and a style show by the 4-H club girls at 1:30 p. m. Both should be of real interest to women.

One of the clubs is displaying a model home, complete in every detail of furnishing—all on a miniature scale. The display includes the plans from which the home was made. Another club displays all the necessary articles for giving a baby a bath—absorbent cotton, talcum powder, oil, swabs for eyes and ears, boric acid, castile soap, thermometer to test the water temperature, and clothing.

Women, particularly young mothers, will find valuable information in one club's display of the right and wrong toys for a baby. The display shows why some toys are right and others are wrong. To be right, according to the arrangers of the display, a baby's toys should not be small articles, should be soft, should have no loose parts, should be colorful, should not have sharp corners, and should be washable.

Quilts and Rugs.

In the northwest corner of the art building are displayed a number of handsome quilts—most of them new entries this year—and a variety of handmade rugs and embroidered and crocheted articles. Directly opposite is a display showing how furniture is upholstered and through the hall are various exhibits of electrical appliances.

Mothers and sisters of school boys, and for that matter any woman interested in young people, will get a kick out of the boys' displays in the junior fair section. Not only do they portray the advantages of membership in the Future Farmers of America, but they show too what the boys are learning to do in the vocational agriculture departments, both in making farm equipment and in raising farm products. One of the most pretentious projects is a buzz-saw, mounted on a Model T chassis, an excellent piece of handwork.

Traffic on busy streets is measured in millions of car-miles annually—and millions of car stops. Can you make these stops swiftly, surely, with least possible skidding?

You can if your streets are concrete. Concrete's gritty surface grips and holds tires, offers maximum traction in any weather. Its uniform riding surface gives you driving confidence—a further safety aid. And at night, concrete's light-gray, highly visible color makes your streets safer for motorist and pedestrian alike.

For economy, for good appearance—and for safety—insist on concrete.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

COL. MOSES F. WOOSTER

Moses F. Wooster was a native of Massachusetts but came to Ohio as a young man and was in the drug business at Norwalk when the Civil war began. He served for a time as a second lieutenant in the "Norwalk Light Guards" but later organized a company for service in the regular army. He was commissioned a first lieutenant and took part in many important battles.

When the 101st Ohio Volunteer infantry was organized, Wooster was named adjutant of the regiment and in a few months promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel. What promised to be a distinguished military career was suddenly cut short at the Battle of the Stone river in 1862. He fell mortally wounded while leading his troops in an effort to stem the tide of defeat and died on Jan. 1, 1863.

COPPERS STEM MARKET RALLY

Stocks Turn Spotty Although Steels, Motors, Rails Hold Part of Gains.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Selling in coppers, depressed by disappointing consumption statistics, checked an early upturn in today's stock market.

While a few steels, movers, rails and specialties managed to hold portions of an initial advance ranging from fractions to a point or more, the list had numerous soft spots near the fourth hour.

Opening activity was moderate. The ticker tape moved sluggishly thereafter

Bonds ignored the apathetic performance of stocks and most tilted forward Commodities were backward

Aside from confusion over domestic business and politics and continuance of foreign military complications, another, but milder, break in the French franc to a new low since 1926 served to put a little more chill on speculative sentiment. The French unit recovered at the start but soon dipped on heavier offerings

Among shares with upward leanings were U. S Steel, Bethlehem, American Steel Foundries, Republic, General Motors, Chrysler, U S Rubber, Goodyear and American Can

Howe sound was off more than three at the worst. Inclined to give ground most of the time were Anaconda, American Smelting, Oliver Farm, National Steel, Western Union, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, Goodrich and Allied Stores.

The sharp decline in Western Union's July earnings, together with omission of the dividend, was a further depressing influence on this issue and caused some analysts to wonder if mounting costs in other corporations might not be reflected unfavorably in forthcoming profit statements

In the opinion of some brokers approximately 52 per cent of the Streets margin accounts are now in the "frozen" category, in other words, below the 55 per cent required for active trading purposes Such demand as has been appearing recently therefore, was attributed largely to stock exchange in-and-out floor members and odd-lot and investment participation.

With this condition prevailing, one commentator pointed out, real lifting power must be provided by the shrewder investors and traders with liquid funds, if and when they judge the time to be ripe

Wool Market

BOSTON, Sept. 16—A better tone was noted in the wool market today Actual business was light and the price situation generally remained unsettled

Bids were a little more numerous than earlier in the week but mostly very low compared with late August asking prices Inferior lots of short French combing and clothing length fine territory wools were sold at 88@90 cents scoured basis Both French combing length, fine territory wools, were held mostly at 93@97 cents despite the fact that bids inclined under 90 cents

The tone at London and in Australia was reported somewhat improved

DETROIT, Sept. 16 — Police claimed today a complete solution of the killing of Miss Pauline Regal with the arrest of a 16-year-old mentally unbalanced youth who escaped from a hospital shortly before the 40-year-old spinster was found slain in bed.

LEAGUE COMMITTEE SCANS CHINA APPEAL

Possibility U. S. May Take Part in Revived Oriental Advisory Group.

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Sept 16—The League of Nations council today put China's appeal against Japanese aggression into the hands of a revived oriental advisory committee—a group in which the United States once participated,

This committee was created in 1933 as a result of Japan's seizure of Manchuria, a conquest the league failed to stop. There was an American consultative member then

The potential participation of the United States in the revived committee's deliberations thus became a matter of the most vital importance here.

Today's action was taken in private council session after the members had decided to take up quickly the Spanish government's protest against the sinking of her merchant ships "by Italy."

Dr Wellington Koo, the Chinese envoy, accepted the council's decision but he reserved the right to appeal again to the council direct and to invoke article XVII of the covenant—which could bring sanctions against Japan—if he feels it necessary.

If article XVII were invoked Japan, a league non-member, would be asked to sit temporarily in the council and answer China's charges that she is an aggressor.

The advisory committee will meet shortly after the election of new members to the council, which is set for next Monday

In the meantime invitations will be dispatched to the 23 countries which made up the former committee including the United States. They will be asked to participate in the new consultations.

$200,000 JERSEY FIRE FOLLOWS BLASTS

By The Associated Press

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Sept. 16—Police and fire officials, seeking a cause for the explosions and resulting fire that almost destroyed a two-story drug plant and injured 75 persons, began separate investigations today as firemen sought possible victims in the smouldering ruins.

Ten firemen, three of them overcome by smoke and heat, were among the 75 persons treated at two hospitals and first aid stations last night at the height of the spectacular blaze at the S. B. Penick & Co factory.

Police estimated damage at "between $200,000 and $300,000," and C W Speed, treasurer of the company said the loss would "run well into six figures, anywhere from $100,000 to $1,000,000."

The fire, acting Police Chief Michael Lyons said, began after an explosion which was "quickly followed by several more."

Making the grade

GROWING children with an abundance of energy usually do make the grade . . . and with ease.

Every thoughtful mother recognizes this fact . . . mothers know too that children need help to build and maintain blood strength.

Particularly is this true with those who have suffered some illness or who look pale . . . tire easily . . . are underweight or have lost their zest for food.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up children's health through the red-blood-cells, thus putting them in better condition to enjoy the food they eat and to regain lost weight . . . all which make for strength and vitality.

Help your child to "make the grade" by starting him or her on a course of S.S.S. Tonic now. There is no substitute for this time-tested remedy and no ethical druggist will suggest something "just as good." © S.S.S. Co.

POULSON SAYS U. S. SHUNS OHIO POLITICS

Promises No Interference from Washington in Next Year's Primary.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—Contradicting published reports that Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic national committeeman, would enter the 1938 Ohio gubernatorial primary with support of the national administration, Democratic State Chairman Francis W. Poulson asserted today that he had "ample" assurance" there would be no interference either by the administration or the national committee.

Poulson said Dennis Dunlavy, a member of the state utilities commission, quoted Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley as saying in a telephone conversation:

"I have been shouting from the housetops that we have no intention of involving Washington in any Democratic gubernatorial primary—whether it be in Ohio or any other state."

Gov. Martin L. Davey has not announced whether he would seek a third term. Sawyer likewise has declined to commit himself publicly.

Poulson said Farley's statement "should be of interest to Democrats of Ohio concerning the real attitude of the national administration in state primary matters."

TWO STARS WITH TOM MIX CIRCUS

Circus elephants, like human performers, enjoy the plaudits of spectators and seemingly take a delight in presenting their special routine of stunts. Queen, one of the Tom Mix circus trained elephants, is shown above with her trainer, Madam Annette, acknowledging applause.

They will be here Saturday, Sept. 18 with the Tom Mix circus, which will give two performances at Drake field.

Tom Mix will come with his show, which includes 200 arenic acts. Tom will appear with his equally famous horses, "Tony" and "Tony Jr." and his new horse "Warrior," a six-year-old Arabian thoroughbred.

To enable golfers to practice indoors an artificial putting green that is said to simulate the action of real grass has been invented that is made of mohair velvet backed by sponge rubber.

SPAIN'S NO PLACE FOR DUCE'S FRIEND

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Sept. 16—Madeline de La Perriere, who shot the Count de Chambrun because, she said, he told about her love for "my Benito" Mussolini, tried to go to Spain today. But the police wouldn't let her.

The former newspaper writer was found trudging along a mountain path near the frontier. She had no passport and police turned her around the other way, away from the land of civil war.

Mme. de La Perriere was given a suspended sentence and a small fine here on July 29 for shooting de Chambrun, former ambassador to Italy, at the gare du nord last spring. She said she did it because de Chambrun betrayed her confidences and broke up her friendship with Il Duce in Rome. The count recovered.

French Boy of 14 Starts Life Aware That His Opportunities Are Limited

PIERRE YVRON

Fourteen-year-old Pierre, whose father hasn't the money to send him to "classical" school, accepts calmly the tradition which allots him small hope for advancing beyond the rank of skilled worker. He has become an apprentice to an interior painter.

This is the fourth in a series of articles examining, close-up, the average boy of 14 in Europe . . . his prospects for the new school term—and for the future—a: the age when, in America, he would this month be entering high school.

By HENRY CASSIDY
Associated Press Foreign Service

PARIS, Sept. 16 — Dark, curly-haired Pierre Yvron, more mature than an American school boy of the same age, knows that he will never be president of France. "I have to be rich for that," he says candidly.

Pierre's father is a mechanic, earning 1,200 francs a month. That is the equivalent of $3,000 a year in U. S. A year ago, before the devaluation of last fall and this year, it corresponded to more than $4,000 a year. But it was not enough to keep Pierre in school after he had finished the eight years of primary school required of all French boys.

Three Paths Open

With this background, Pierre already sees that he is destined to the life of a worker. There is no tradition in France of a boy's rising from a log cabin to the Elysee palace, the French White House. There is no tradition of bootblacks hoping to be captains of industry.

Pierre started to school at 6, in the public primary school. That education ended with his "certificate of study."

From there, three paths were open.

He might have gone to the public high school, where rigid examinations would face him for his elementary and superior certificates. That would carry him through to 16, and qualify him to go on to the polytechnic schools, studying to become an engineer, or a government technician.

He might go to a "Lycee," or classical school, and study for his baccalaureate, which he would receive when about 18. Then he could go to a university, win his doctorate, and become a doctor, lawyer or professor.

He could enter a professional school, take practical studies and prepare to enter his trade immediately.

He's Not Dissatisfied

Pierre did the latter, and in one year has studied designing, painting and carpentry. He could stay at this school without paying until he became 16, but he has already found his apprenticeship, where he will now get three francs (12 cents) a day as apprentice to an interior painter. Later, he might become a painter's helper, at double his original pay, and finally a regular painter at about 1,500 francs ($50) a month.

Despite the limits to his future, Pierre is content with his lot. He lives in an apartment that would be comfortable by American standards. There are two bedrooms, a dining room, kitchen, bathroom—and an elevator, which is something of a luxury in France—for himself, his parents and twin brother.

Pierre is conscious of political movements in his country. There is no political regimentation of the boys, they don't have to join youth movements or wear uniforms. But they hear the speeches, read the proclamations and see the demonstrations of the governing People's Front of Socialists, Radical-socialists and Communists.

Likes U. S. and England

"I am a Socialist because I like what the government does for the workers," Pierre says. "If taxes go up, I would like it less, but I would still be a Socialist."

Similarly, Pierre favors the countries his country favors.

"I like the United States and England because they are like us," he says. "I don't like Germany and Italy, because we don't have their ideas."

Pierre expects to go on with his present life, working more and more for some time. He does not intend to marry until he is 25. He knows many girls in his neighborhood, walks and jokes with them, but he is more serious about earning his living first, before marrying.

Meantime, there's one sure thing ahead for Pierre—he must "pass to the regiment" as 20 and remain two years.

Compulsory military service is a tie that unites all boys in this country where traces of the old aristocracy still mark some youths for distinguished careers, others for common work.

"We go to the regiment because we have to," Pierre says, "but we don't mind. We don't want much to be soldiers—but it might help some day."

Study of Scioto - Sandusky Project To Be Included in Huge Program.

Assurance that a survey will be made of the Scioto and Sandusky rivers preparatory to a proposed flood control project was given by the war department today in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington. Officials stated that part of a $500,000 appropriation for flood control surveys will be allocated to these rivers.

The money will be spread as evenly as possible over various sections of the country in an effort to determine flood prevention needs. The surveys were authorized by the recent congress and additional funds are expected by the department from the next congress.

No money has been allocated as yet for the Scioto and Sandusky rivers which are to share in a final division of available funds, the department stated.

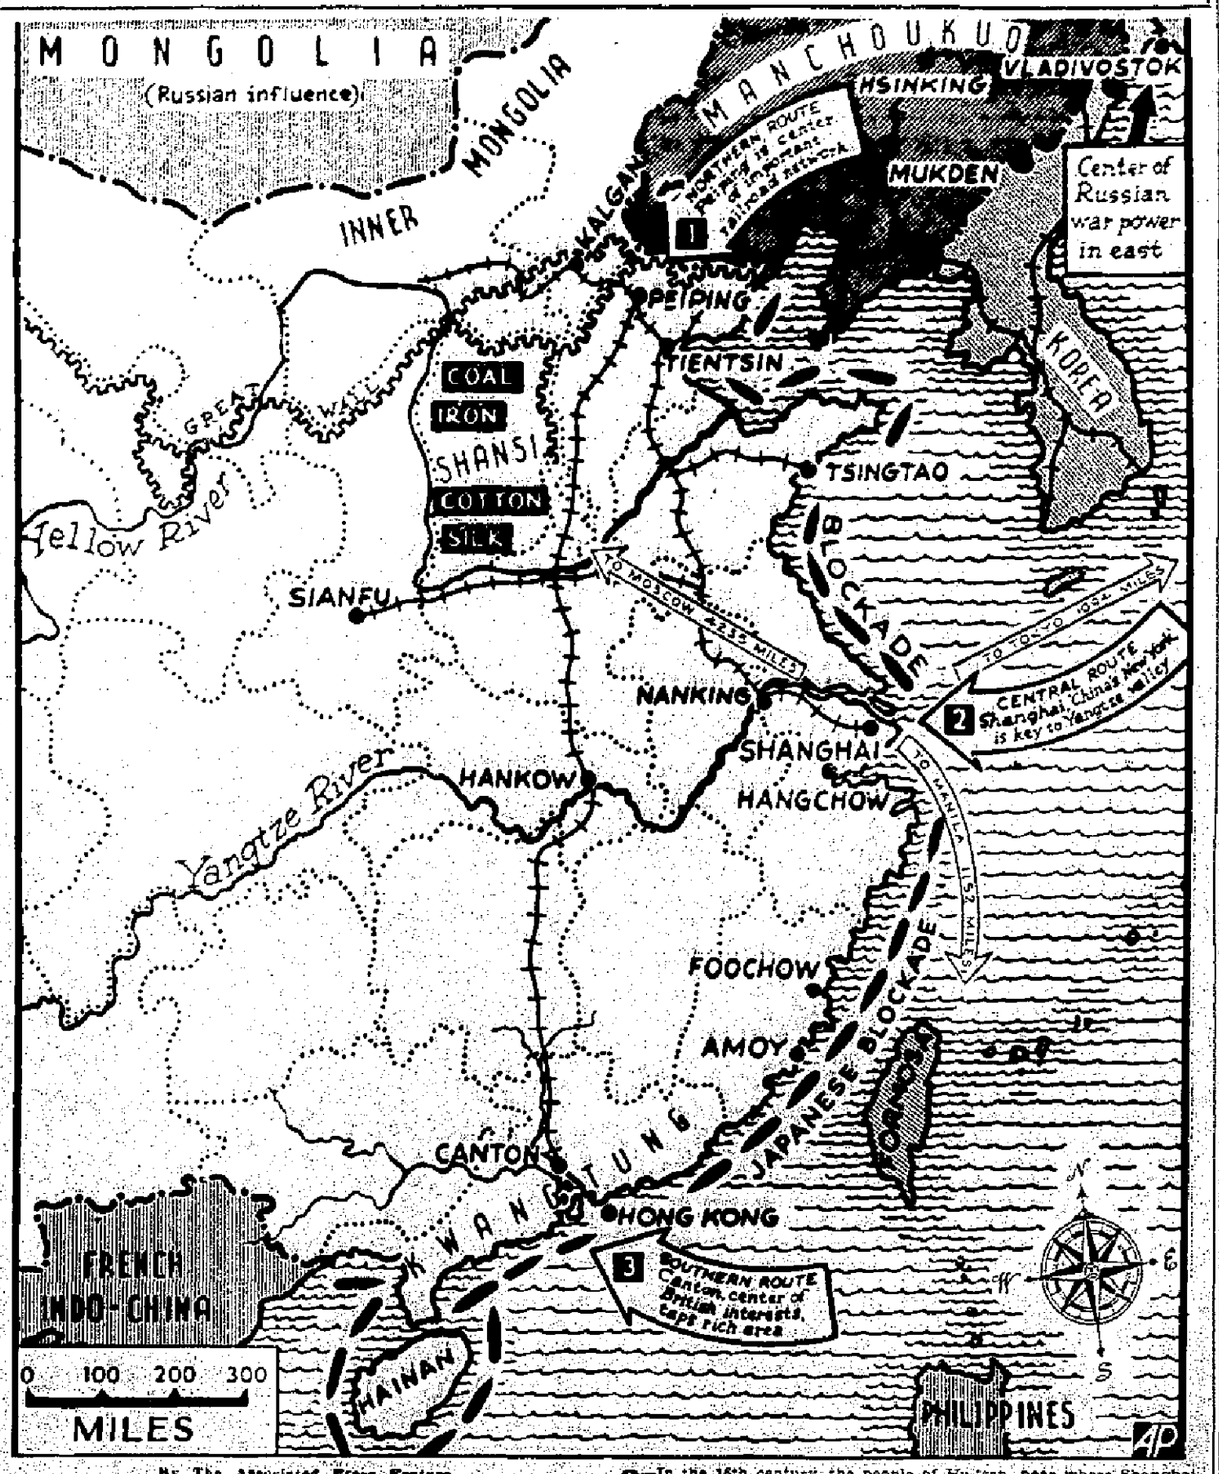
Three Paths To Empire in China



By The Associated Press Feature

VAST and populous China has few really vital centers—places where an invading army might strike a death blow.

Yet there are three broad highways to the political and economic heart of Cathay. On two of them, Japan already has set foot. And now she seems to be heading for the third.

A glance at the map tells the story.

1—Peiping, once the stronghold of the Manchus, is dangerously close to the border of Manchoukuo, the puppet state created by Japan. And Peiping, with its traditions of power and its hold on converging railroads, is tremendously important in trade and politics.

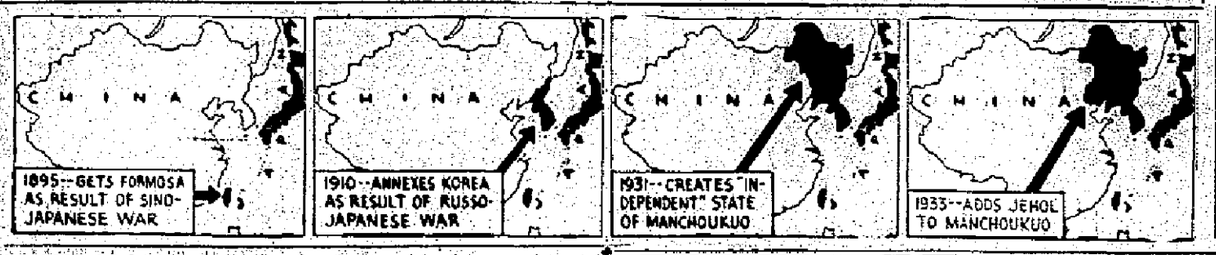
So Japan struck at Peiping, cutting its railroad lines, and occupying the city. Beyond Peiping lies rich Shansi province with its coal, iron, cotton and silk which Japan needs. Its population numbers 12,000,000.

2—In the 16th century, the people of Hu-tsen, near where Shanghai now stands, were harassed by Japanese marauders. Again, in the 20th century, native villages of the Shanghai area are feeling the thrust of Japanese military might.

Shanghai, a city of 3,250,000 population, is the sixth largest in the world and the richest trade center of the Far East. Its commercial importance is indicated by the fact that American property there is valued at $100,000,000.

3—Kwangtung—the "Broad East"—province is a great plum, so far as Japanese desire to dominate the Asiatic mainland is concerned. Canton is the capital of this 100,000-square-mile territory and the area around it produces rice, silk, sugar, indigo, tobacco, tea, oil plants and fruit. After having evacuated her own nationals Japan has sent bombing planes over Canton, terrorizing the populace. And Canton is only 100 miles from British-dominated Hongkong.

HOW JAPAN HAS PENETRATED ASIATIC MAINLAND



AUSTRALIANS HAVE VARIED VIEW OF U. S.

By United Press

MELBOURNE — The United States received terrific flaying, also some bouquets at the Melbourne university debate on the question: "We regret the influence of America."

The affirmative debaters scored the following points:

America has given the world luxuries but nothing to improve spiritual or cultural life.

Has established price as a criteron and get-rich-quick as a dogma.

Has debased the potential art of the film to exploit for profit man's baser instincts.

The negatives, however, balanced up the situation with the following highlights:

America has led the world in mechanical invention and applied science.

Has demonstrated a vitality and enthusiasm worthy of imitation.

Has justified its "blustering" by its sincerity and vitality.

Other countries have produced worse films.

By popular vote the negative won.

Marion Boat Fan Ducked As Motor Test Goes Awry

An attempt to break the laws of gravity and physics was reported today by friends of two Marion outboard motorboat addicts who recently visited Catawba Island on Lake Erie.

It appears that one of the two men had a wonderful new engine for his boat, just purchased, and was eager to give it a try. But the motor was a 15-horsepower affair and wasn't quite powerful enough to suit his taste, so he brought a 33 - horsepower monster that weighed something over 200 pounds.

So huge was the engine that its owner was unable to mount it on the boat singlehanded and consequently he had rigged up a boom and pulley with which to lift the engine from its resting place on the bottom of the boat to the stern.

They maneuvered their tiny boat, weighing about 120 pounds, out several hundred yards offshore into about 10 feet of water and began to hoist the engine from the center of the boat to the rear.

One man weighed 175 pounds and the other about 130 and when both of them and the 200 pound motor engine got into the back of the 120 pound boat all at once—something was bound to happen.

It did. The boat did a dipsy-doo end over end, the motor crashed to the bottom of the lake and the two sailors were tossed into the water. They managed to climb on the upset boat until friends ashore could run a quarter mile and get a rowboat and go to their aid.

Most of the remainder of the day, several hours, was spent in rescuing the new engine.

THURSDAY, - - - SEPTEMBER 16, 1937

Warning To Bigots.

DISCLOSURE that Hugo L. Black, recently appointed associate justice of the supreme court, joined the Ku Klux Klan Sept. 11, 1923, resigned July 19, 1925, and was made a life member Sept. 2, 1926, is important in direct ratio to the public's response to it.

Membership in an organization dedicated to racial and religious bigotry should disqualify a man from sitting on the supreme bench. This is not a question of legality, nor of politics. It is a question of ethics, a question of morals.

The people of the United States have had their troubles with bigotry in high places, including the supreme court. From their experiences they know it is a threat to good government. If, faced with the fact of bigotry in so important an instance as appointment of former Sen. Black to the supreme court, they should make it plain that they will not willingly be victimized, that would be a triumph for good government.

If, on the other hand, they were to remain passive in the face of proof that a man who has received an appointment to the supreme court had disqualified himself by membership in such an organization as the Ku Klux Klan, that would be a triumph for bigotry.

Plunking Down.

EXCHANGE of money between John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization and the Democratic national committee is not one of the aspects of politics which would be pointed to with pride on an inspection of the American party system.

For it illustrates one of the grave weaknesses of the system—the inability of the party's leaders to obtain money without placing themselves under embarrassing obligations. A party must find "fat cats" or it can not exist. Mr. Lewis, lending the Democratic committee money and making large contributions outright from the funds of his miners' union, can not be expected to be less realistic about the gratitude he deserves than any one of dozens of large contributors who have expected favors in the past—and received them.

Perhaps it is significant that the Democratic committee is paying off its debt to him; $25,000 was paid back in one installment the close of last week. But more significant is the fact that Mr. Lewis, who is suspected of having major political ambitions, has behind him an organization free of the grave weakness of the organizations of the two major parties. They always have been obliged to go looking for money when they needed it; Mr. Lewis can obtain all the money he needs merely by making an assessment on members of his unions.

He doesn't need to stage victory dinners or sell souvenir booklets. He doesn't need to wheedle large contributions from a few men with axes to grind, or go into debt to finance a campaign. No, all he needs to do is to collect a dime, a quarter or a dollar from, say, each United Mine Worker and forget about it. Mr. Lewis is the first person in a political connection to reduce "plunking down" to a fine art.

Rebellious Disposition.

CHANGE is the great challenge to intelligence. The few who respond to it successfully win recognition and devotion. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, founder and first president of Czechoslovakia, was one of the few.

A "rebellious disposition" as a youth goaded him through the usual perils of reform and opposition to ultimate glory as one of the truly great statesmen and philosophers of his age.

It is unfortunate, but inevitable, that many more who were equally rebellious lacked ability to convert their dissatisfaction into useful accomplishment. Instead of statesmen and philosophers, they were crackpots, carpers, frustrated radicals and outcasts adding to the troubles of a confused world.

When science finally gets around to an attack on the problem of waste in politics, it will devise some way to make recognition of an occasional Masaryk automatic—as automatic as resistance to thousands of rebelliously disposed human beings everlastingly eager to accept the great challenge, but with no fighting equipment, except a loud mouth and a consuming lust for power.

News that the flaxseed crop is likely to fail short may be cause for concern in some localities but here it does little more than stir up memories of long ago when the popular remedy whenever anything lodged in a person's eye was to chase it out with a flaxseed.

A strip of land in uptown Chicago set aside many years ago for a cowpath now has an assessed value of $161,000, and that doesn't seem any too high at the present price of choice steaks.

Educational campaigns in traffic safety will never accomplish substantial results until drivers first learn the meaning of such words as "think, look and stop."

The man who makes the best mousetrap may be a smart fellow, but smarter still must be the sales promotionist who convinces the world that it is the best.

Meet Son James

He's a Political Freshman But Wields Considerable Influuence as Presidential Secretary.

WHEN James Roosevelt, the President's oldest son, was studying law in Boston university he announced his heart was set on politics in Washington. It is well known that his aspiration is being realized rapidly under his father's guidance.

As a presidential secretary, he draws $10,000 a year. He has become, in fact, the ranking member of the secretariat. With constant and easy access to his father, he is recognized as the head man on patronage. "You have to see Jimmy," is the password.

An appraisal of James Roosevelt's position, published by Business Week is reprinted herewith:

Jimmy Roosevelt is a humble worshipper of the Farley technique. Mr. Farley is extremely fond of Jimmy. His is the attitude of an affectionate sage toward an adoring disciple. Instead of resenting Jimmy's activities, the wily old master makes capital of it.

James Roosevelt

Suppose two unswerving Democrats of equal importance are equally determined to land a government job with fat pay and dreamy duties. By preferring either, Mr. Farley incites the other's hate. So he lets Jimmy Roosevelt name the winner. He can then say to each of the suppliants:

"Sorry, old man, I did everything I could for you. But the President's son had a man for the place. You know how it is."

Plenty of Material

James has never been at a loss to find a friend for the opening. The federal roll in Massachusetts, where he votes, is well populated with his buddies, and they are doing right well in Washington. Tom Quatters, who took the late Gus Gennerich's place as strong arm man to the President, was James' bodyguard during the last campaign.

They tell of a Bostonian whom James wanted to get into the attorney general's office. Mr. Cummings said "No." It then developed (most embarrassing!) that the Bostonian already had leased a house in Washington on James' assurance. Mr. Cummings relented gracefully, and put the applicant on. Later the President gave him a much better job in his home state.

The hand of the son-secretary is seen or suspected in many similar deals. John Carson, secretary to the late Sen. Couzens, served a few days as secretary of the maritime commission. He was shifted over to the bituminous coal commission and W. C. Peet, a pal of James', popped into his former place. Another of this happy fraternity, Charles McGee, has moved up in the federal housing administration to the position of deputy administrator (salary $9,000). Thomas Slowie, also in Jimmy's favor, slipped in as secretary of the federal communications commission ahead of a candidate supposed to have been sponsored by Mr. Farley.

Many of these fortunates are amply equipped for their jobs. Others are endowed but dimly. Lackmaster officials are numerous among the patriots who were placed in Massachusetts jobs by Jimmy Roosevelt and James M. Curley soon after his father took office.

Promising as he is, the student politician has pulled his share of boners. While campaigning for his father in Massachusetts, James assured an audience at Gardner that, if reelected, his father would seek to embody NRA principles in a constitutional amendment. He promptly denied it when the opposition began to howl; the error was soon obliterated by the powder stains of battle.

He also promised legalized beer immediately after the 1932 election. Democratic leadership was aghast because of dry sentiment dictated the soft pedaling of such talk. But the drys merely said, "Too bad Mr. Roosevelt has such a reckless boy." The wets said "Hooray!" There was a net gain all around.

James' speeches have life and force even if he does ape the mannerisms of his sire. Over the radio, his voice takes on a satiny texture. Practically all the President's official family have a genuine affection for James. He likes people and likes to do things for them. For all his over-eagerness, he is cautious about acts that might smear his future. He never squirts champagne in the faces of French mayors.

A Few Questions

Republicans, gnashing their teeth in a jobless darkness, drop gruesome hints. How come James has done so well in the insurance business? What about that yeast concern which he headed? What do you suppose his income tax looked like?

Well, Washington answers, the President's son wouldn't need a blackjack to sell a bonding policy to a bank president whose loan portfolio (during the slump) was a shambles. Congressman Treadway, Massachusetts Republican, bemoaned the fleeting glimpse of James' income returns allowed by the rival majority. Much as a furious enemy would like to nail his hide to the barn door, James has kept free of deadfalls.

James Roosevelt stands well over six feet. He has the spreading shoulders and flat belly of the conscientious athlete. Recently he took up golf, playing at the Burning Tree club, over the Maryland line, where women are forbidden. His game is pretty ghastly around 120. Friends often handicap him two strokes a hole. He is a hard tennis player and shares his father's love for boats. He employs the wide Roosevelt smile; but when it passes his mouth is straight and grim.

James and his family inhabit a sedate old red brick house on O street in Georgetown. It isn't far from that of Jouett (Liberty League) Shouse. Mrs. James Roosevelt is the daughter of Dr. James Harvey Cushing, famous surgeon. She is blond, slender, reserved, competent. Both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt are extremely fond of her. In the frequent absence of the first lady, Mrs. Jimmy is the White House hostess to celebrities.

Keep an eye on the James Roosevelts. They are going places.

Warnings to Senate About Klan Connections Before Confirmation of Justice Black Recalled.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Not only the Catholics, Jews and Negroes of America are directly concerned about the charge that President Roosevelt has put a Klansman on the supreme court of the United States, but so also are all the foreign-born.

The Ku Klux Klan, as a source not only of religious and racial antagonism, but as the secret plotter against all those engaging in business, large or small, who have come to America from foreign shores, is being revived today, but in 1924, when the opposition to the Klan was at its height, the Democratic party was torn asunder by issues arising from the Klan's activities.

Thus, in the Democratic national convention of 1924, a plank denouncing the Klan in specific instead of abstract terms was defeated by a vote of 542 to 541. Many impassioned speeches were made, and it is interesting to reproduce a typical utterance, such as that of Mrs. Carroll Miller of Pennsylvania, a sister of Senator Guffey and now Democratic national committeewoman from the Keystone state. She said:

"As you know, I am a Protestant, but this issue is not an issue between Catholics, Jews and foreign-born on one side and Protestants on the other, but it is an issue between free Americans on one side and a vicious un-American organization on the other, the members of which, regardless of their professed religious views, are in no conceivable sense Christians.

"What would you, my friends, think of a home in America where the little children shuddered mutely in terrorizing fear of the hooded Ku Klux Klan? Oh, there are such places, hundreds of them, where citizens who are guaranteed life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness by the Constitution are denied these essential attributes of a free life, places where a foreign-born is discriminated against by the shopkeeper, places where the wife is waiting for her husband to return from the mine, the field or the factory never for a moment sure that he will not be mobbed or beaten to death before he returns to her and his family.

"In the mountains of my own state only a few months ago, this guerilla organization not only terrorized a community but their demonstration resulted in a tragedy where three people were killed and many injured.

"My fellow citizens, do you call that American? Do you call that religious? Do you call that Christian? No, it is nothing but outlawry and criminality."

Question Before Senate

Such was the spirit of the times about the time Senator Black is on record as having been a member of the Klan. The fact of his membership was widely known in Alabama, and when his name came before the senate of the United States as an appointee to the supreme court of the United States, newspapers and senators from various states promptly referred to the Klan membership as requiring investigation.

President Roosevelt now says he didn't know, when he made the appointment, whether Mr. Black was a member of the Klan. But after the nomination went to the senate, there was plenty of public discussion about it and plenty of opportunity for Mr. Roosevelt to have found out about it if he really desired to do so. Extracts from the senate debate a month ago before Mr. Black was confirmed are illuminating. Said Senator Burke, Democrat:

"There are two gentlemen in the city of Washington, with one of whom I talked, and that one told me that he and the other gentleman in this city were both members of the Klan in Birmingham, Ala., and both were present in person on the occasion of the initiation of Mr. Hugo Black into the order; and both gentlemen could be subpoenaed to come before the committee if the committee desires to go into the question."

Senator Copeland, Democrat of New York, was equally vigorous. He said to the senate:

"We are free here in the United States because we are guarded by the supreme court. Catholics, Protestants, Negroes, Jews, Gentiles, all of us are guarded by the supreme court. But what would happen if a half dozen men of the mental bias of the nominee should be seated on the bench? Is it likely that the remodeled court would deal tolerantly and generously with religious and racial questions

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Sept. 16, 1927.

D. R. Crissinger of Marion resigned as governor of the federal reserve board to enter private business.

Nathan E. Babcock of Nye street, former Marion policeman, was killed in a train accident while employed as an Erie railroad section hand.

A drop in the temperature to 67 degrees during the night brought temporary relief in Marion from a belated heat wave which had gripped the middle western states. During the day the mercury had reached 93½ degrees here, causing such discomfiture in the schools that it was necessary to dismiss 40 minutes earlier than usual. The same action was taken in schools at Kenton and Bucyrus.

Mayor and Mrs. Earl Hazen of Oak street and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tobin of Sugar street returned from a 10 days' trip to Washington, D. C., Gettysburg, Pa., and other points in the east.

Mrs. B. F. Shuirz of West Church street returned from Wheeling, W. Va., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. E. W. Schoenlaub, who had recently returned from a trip abroad.

The Delphian club gave a handkerchief shower at the home of Mrs. Carl J. Watrous on East Center street for Mrs. B. M. Sager, who was to leave soon to reside in Dayton.

The 77th annual Marion county fair came to a close with the final day's attendance set at 6,000. Attendance for the four days was reported at 18,500.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, Sept. 16, 1917.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Lucas celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home two miles northeast of Marion, entertaining a company of 50 at dinner.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strine of near Waldo.

A 16-inch water main broke near the pumping station west of Marion, resulting in a shutdown of most of the city's water supply for a 12-hour period.

Miss Marion Ruby Hill of Marion and Herber C. Hall of Toledo were united in marriage by Dr. Jesse Swank at Epworth M. E. parsonage.

The Marion Questions defeated the Hope-Hayes team of Columbus at Lincoln park 4-2. Linson, Marion pitcher, allowed only five hits.

Miss Helen Ruth Ernst of Marion and Fred G. Shreck of Galion were united in marriage by Rev. C. O. Callender at the Galion M. E. parsonage.

Rev. A. F. Berry, who had come here from Upper Sandusky to be pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church, preached his first sermon in the new pastorate.

Wrong Conclusion.

"Americans," says a headline, "don't care much for breakfast." What Americans? Who says?

Well, it turns out that this is just the result of another survey, this one being a poll conducted by the National Restaurant association. The headline was based, in a rather squinting fashion, on the disclosure that dinner is a favorite American meal, with luncheon second and breakfast third.

Manifestly the results of the poll do not necessarily lead to the conclusion that Americans don't care much for breakfast. They lead only to the conclusion that Americans don't care much for the breakfasts they get, or perhaps that they don't get much breakfast to care for.

If dinner is the favorite American meal, probably that is only because it is the only meal the average American has time enough to eat nowadays. Lunch doubtless comes in second because the average American's employer sees to it that he has a little time to take on fuel at noon. Breakfast comes in a poor third, undoubtedly because the average American himself has to provide the time for that, and he doesn't provide enough. The average American, we fear, stays up too late at night to care much for the sort of breakfast that can be shoe-horned in between the time he gets up and the time he's supposed to be at work.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Espionage Operations

Danger Lies Not in Colorful Settings As Much As in Streets and Cafes, Nazis Say.

In this third and concluding article on the new German drive on espionage are detailed the various purposes and methods of operation employed by espionage organizations as put forth by the Nazi war ministry.

* * *

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 16—Espionage as pictured in the popular mind in terms of luxury and beautiful women luring to their doom unsuspecting officers is being ruthlessly debunked by the German war ministry in a campaign to put the ordinary soldier on his guard against spies and traitors.

Deadly danger—it is claimed—lurks not so much in gilded ballrooms and silk-lined boudoirs as on every street corner and cafe or wherever three meet, and every bit of gossip and "innocent" remark by the average soldier or citizen is picked up by listening ears for forwarding to the headquarters of the foreign intelligence service, to be pieced together into one general picture.

Vamps Out of Picture

A paragraph in educational accounts being published by the military for the benefit of the army states: "A visit to the headquarters of a foreign intelligence service would reveal no exotic movie vamps and romantic cavaliers but a most practical military office consisting in part of military affairs and in part of a scientific laboratory.

"Here would be found hard at work professionally trained translators, technicians, expert officers, criminalists and code wizards. Using every scientific facility, they work with utmost patience piecing together bit by bit the many little bits until at last they have achieved a fairly good general picture of the other power's army and defense methods."

Details Watched For

Continuing from there, stress is laid on the claim that modern spies are not expected by their chiefs to bring back tremendous state and military secrets or the plans of a whole fortified area but that every detail coming to their ears must be reported.

"A change in individual training routine, a new bridge, a small technical improvement—all may lead to deductions pointing the way for a foreign intelligence service to the most far-reaching conclusions. For that reason what seems to be the most minor and unimportant thing is as important as the highest state secret.

"Silliness, love of gossip, admiration of foreign things, misjudged comradeship are some of the starting points for foreign intelligence services. Its victims, provided they escape death on the headman's block, become deserters, political refugees and the like. Seldom do these spy organizations send their own agents into the army itself.

Victims Usually Entangled

In general they entangle their victim from within the ranks. Once in the net there is no way back. Those who seek to get out of that net, once caught, are "turned in" to their own superiors by the foreign intelligence service in one way or another and such traitors always end on the headman's block."

The greatest spy activity, it is pointed out, lies in border vicinities. Solders in such areas are particularly warned to be wary and report to superiors any suspicious attempts to get them into conversation or attempts by anyone to advance them money, pay debts or by direct blackmail threats.

Military and Police Concerned

"The battle against foreign intelligence services and their German traitorous henchmen is the job of the military and police. Nobody, also no member of the army, is justified in 'capturing spies' on his own responsibility. Acting on personal responsibility, which may cross efforts of the regular police and military anti-spy service, will be punished. For German soldiers the following rules gives a clear conception of their duty in the fight against spies and traitors:

"True fulfillment of soldierly obligations.

"Trust and confidence in superiors.

"Eyes and ears open.

"Mouth shut!"

In New York

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—From Nyack up the Hudson the other day I motored along part of the delightful stretch of the Tappan Zee that Washington Irving so beglamoured. Still the flavor of revolutionary days. Especially at the old tavern at which we stopped.

A tavern that boasted the very table on which Washington signed away the life of Andre, and the "original bar," which was doing middling well with trade. There was indeed a bit too much bluster in the presence of so much of yesterday—a presence rally calling for bowed heads.

Too, I wandered among the old red and seabrous gravestones of a little white church etched against a perfect sky. And moving the stones recorded the passing of innumerable once generals and there was the wonder if, after all, the doctors are lengthening life today.

Too, I talked to a sturdy young man on the roadside who said he was from Pleasantville and was on his way to Sneeden's Landing. There was something poetic about those names. Names that a hurrying civilization should not allow to die. Like Dobbs Ferry, they suggest a simple life we may never know again.

The screen is never so disillusioning for the popular star as is the legitimate theater. The cinema art of make-up can keep a star at prechristudinous par for years. But the footlights no matter the artifices, reveal all. I saw a glamorous stage star after ten years the other night. In spite of the beauty parlors and such, she had moved on to a certain autumn quietude. She tried to be kittenish and express the old come-hither but it wouldn't jell. Ladies rarely learn Nature's lesson from the plum thicket that blooms at the roadside and the dried leaves that stir in the November winds and the aches and pains of the Old People's Home. That lesson is that the Sweet Sixteen role can be played but once and briefly in the drama of life. It cannot be carried through the years.

Joe Moore, newspaper and magazine publisher, who passed on a month or so ago, had what many regarded as the town's most contagious laugh. He was of enormous build, and when his round moon-face rippled into a setting for a roaring guffaw no one in the neighborhood could keep a straight face. He had a roar that shook the rafters and often touched off a solemn dining room in a whoop. Moore died exactly as he wished. He often said he would like to go out just like falling to sleep after enjoying a full meal. He had dined sumptuously at one of his favorite restaurants and was descending to the street when he slumped on the stairs, expiring before a doctor in the place could reach him.

Booth Tarkington is one of the few top flight writers able to check writing for several years, return to it and turn out stuff as good as ever. His failing eyesight, now almost normal, has on three occasions kept him from writing for long periods. During these convalescences he never wrote a line, but in each case when he started again editors declared he was just as capable in plotting, character delineation and dialogue as ever. He is brushing the 70's.

Theodore Roosevelt was said to be swiftest of readers among laymen. He could scan an entire page almost at a glance, although his eyes were weak and he had to wear heavy-lensed glasses. Chief Justice Holmes was also able to digest a typewritten page as others read five or six lines. Most magazine editors are block readers. Harry Burton can rifle through a manuscript while talking to the author, and intelligently discuss the plot.

Business for Russia

By United Press

SALAMANCA, Sept. 16.—Soviet Russia has sold at least 1,219,600,000 pesetas (roughly $73,000,000) worth of war materials to the Valencia government, as far as the Nationalists can check.

The amount may be far larger but at any rate figures available show that the original contract for 500 millions in gold pesetas, concluded between Senior Largo Caballero and M. Marcel Rozenberg, the former Soviet ambassador, has been covered in considerable excess.

Largest single item of shipments, which the Nationalists say are directed through Marseilles to Valencia, has been airplanes. The Valencia authorities paid 300,000,000 pesetas ($18,000,000) for fighting and bombing craft. Gasoline figures second at 225,000,000 pesetas ($13,500,000) and wheat and trucks figure for 100,000,000 pesetas (about $6,000,000.)

Tanks Costly.

The famous Russian tanks cost Valencia 80,000,000 pesetas (about $3,000,000), according to Nationalists, while machine guns cost 10,000,000 pesetas, rifles 20,000,000 pesetas, guns 4,000,000 pesetas, while ammunition and miscellaneous material filled the bill by another 400,000,000 pesetas ($24,000,000.)

The Nationalists claim that not all the troops were of Russian origin, as they purchased some material in Czechoslovakia and other countries.

The best of the Russian material, it is stated here, are the tanks and machine guns but the tanks are manufactured under a British patent.

Planes Defective.

The Soviet fighting planes are stated to be bad because of their excessive power and lack of maneuvering ability. The American Martin bombers, which the Russians manufacture under patent, are on the other hand, classed as good due to their speed and ease of handling.

The Nationalists say much material from the Soviets is obsolete, and they instance the shipment of a considerable number of rifles which were completely out of date. They were issued out to police and Republican national guards in the rear.

In the opinion of the Nationalists, the experiences of the Spanish war have shown that Russia, after 20 years spent in building up the powerful and much vaunted Red army, has failed to produce any war weapons of genuine value which could be described as extraordinary or sensational.

Today in Ohio History

Among the messages Gen. George B. McClellan sent "back home" was the following just before the Battle of Antietam:

"Have reached thus far, and have no doubt will delivered Pennsylvania and Maryland. Army in excellent spirits." This message bore the heading "Near Sharpsburg, Sept. 15, 1862, 6 p. m." While the general's optimistic message proved premature, the advance of the Confederates definitely turned into a retreat by the Battle of Antietam the next day. The results of the battle led President Lincoln to issue the emancipation proclamation.

LAWRENCE WRITES ON CAPITAL SITUATION

as the court has done in the past?

"Does the leopard change his spots? Will Mr. Justice Black be different than candidate Black, who, according to the 'Mobile (Ala.) Register' of August 15, 1926, backed by the Klan, had a walkaway in his race for the senatorial nomination?"

Tydings Cross Inquiry

Senator Tydings of Maryland, also a Democrat, thought the accusation of sufficient importance to require study by the senate judiciary committee and he supported a proposal that the nomination be "recommitted" or referred to the judiciary committee, said Mr. Tydings:

"I shall vote for the motion to recommit believing that before the vote is cast the senate ought to have all possible information on matters bearing upon a man's fitness to sit on the highest tribunal in this land. If we do not have that kind of information, who knows but that after Senator Black is confirmed, and takes his place on the bench, these affidavits or statements may be printed in the press, and we may never have a chance to find out about their falsity or truth after the nomination is confirmed."

"I think Senator Black above everybody, else would want the senate to know the truth. What harm can there be if Senator Black is not properly subject to these imputations for the world and the senate to know it? What injury could come if these imputations were correct and we should find it out after we had voted to confirm him?"

Notwithstaning the wise advice of Senator Tydings, the senate voted 66 to 14 against referring the nomination to the judiciary committee for further investigation. Today members of the senate are squirming and saying if they had known they would not have voted for Senator Black's confirmation.

But they were warned. They thought more of "senatorial courtesy" than they did of courtesy to the millions of Catholics, Jews, Negroes, and foreign-born who are outraged by the discovery this week that President Roosevelt has placed on the highest court in the land a man who was so narrow-minded as to take an oath of membership in a secret order which was plotting against his fellow-Americans. If Mr. Black stays on the bench, lawyers who have civil liberty cases will no doubt consider the necessity of filing a petition in those cases asking that Mr. Black be disqualified from sitting. It is no exaggeration to say that, if the senate of the United States were to vote today on whether to confirm Mr. Black on the basis of the evidence now available, the nomination would never be ratified.

Unless, therefore, President Roosevelt finds a way to persuade Mr. Black to resign so that another man may be nominated in his place, the responsibility for the presence of a Ku Klux Klansman on the supreme court of the United States will be upon the chief executive himself.

UPPER SANDUSKY GIRL SUCCUMBS

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 16—Miss Althea Rosalind Philbrick, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Philbrick, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Zartman, here Wednesday at 7:30 a. m. following an illness of the last two years from complications.

Born in Upper Sandusky, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs Edgar Larcomb of Columbus and Mrs John Zartman of here, and a brother, Maurice Philbrick of Fort Worth, Tex.

Jack Minshall and Other County Fair Attractions

HARRY TAYLOR'S rodeo—and the correct pronunciation is ro-day-o, say the riders—has with it at the Marion County fair this year Jack Minshall, 43, trick rider, rope spinner and whip "popper," the oldest man with the show in years in the business as well as age. For more than 15 years he's been touring the country with fair rodeos, winter shows and vaudeville, taking an occasional winter lay-off if the show's last stand is in a town he thinks he wouldn't mind living in for a few months. Jack was born at Center, Tex., and spent his boyhood in the west. At one time he was with Tom Mix on tour. Jack recalls that he has been in Marion before, with the King Bros. and California Frank's rodeos. Taylor's rodeo carries six women and 21 men. One of the women is Myrtle Mecoh, hailed as champion lady rifle shot, and the youngest and smallest rope spinner with the show is her 7-year-old son, Arby. Arby said yesterday he's "been messin' around" with roping for a year. Chief cowboy with the show is sandy-haired "Red" Hammermuldt of McLaughlin, S. D., whose been in the show business "nine-ten years." From Marion the rodeo will move to a fair at Lawrenceburg, Ky. The show's comedian is "Rubbydubb and his mule, Jojo."

"Chocolate milk" replied the lady at the restaurant under the grandstand as to what had been the biggest selling item. Then she stopped to reconsider and it seemed maybe sandwiches and soups led. Wednesday morning she had ordered 100 pounds of wieners, 100 pounds of hamburger and 125 cubed steaks and there wasn't a smell of any of it after noon. The women operating the eating place are from Marion Shrine No. 15, Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem and the Shrine patrol, and most of them have adopted the fad of wearing bandana kerchiefs tied around their hair "mammy" style.

An on the midway—"Beautiful Bagdad," a penny arcade, a stand selling watermelon only, 'Maize land Graveyard,' guess-your-weight men with canes for those whose looks belie their poundage, "G-Men Put Crime on the Spot," and any number of test-your-skill games.

The first-aid tent of the Marion County Red Cross chapter hadn't done a "rush" business by Wednesday afternoon, but there was a copy-book page of names of persons treated for cuts and scratches and one name was that of a girl who had worn a blister open on one heel and was rapidly raising another on the other heel. Mrs. Ethel Hauman, first-aid chairman, is in charge of the tent. At all times two persons who have completed the Red Cross first aid course are on duty.

"There's sure some swell looking cakes there" was the wholehearted approval of one visitor as she looked at the home economics display in one of the junior fair buildings.

What looked like one of the big jobs of the fair hadn't been started at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon—screwing in place 510 two-candlepower bulbs used to light the wagon which is one of the features of the night entertainment. E. G. Buschelb, Inc., of Columbus own the wagon and the four-horse hitch of Belgian mares.

RACES LAUNCH WYANDOT FAIR

2:26 Trot for Purse of $200 Split Into Two Divisions.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 16—Wyandot county race fans were treated to a mid-week trot and pace program for the first time in several years as the 85th annual Wyandot county fair got under way Wednesday with fair but cool weather prevailing and a disappointing crowd of less than 1,500 in attendance.

Two races had previously been scheduled for the day, but the first race, a 2:26 trot for a purse of $200 was divided into two divisions, 14 horses having been entered, two of which were later scratched. No records were set for the day and only a minor accident marred the race card when just before the final heat of the final race, two carts collided throwing Driver Bell to the track uninjured.

Jack Horner of Lima is officiating as starter for the races here with Attorney R. H. Stansbery as speed clerk; A. A. Feelle, judge; M. S. Newell, Harry E. Myers and Dr. W. E. Hughes, timers, and R. E. Williams, speed superintendent. Music was furnished throughout the afternoon by the Carey High school band.

Team pulling contests were also conducted during the afternoon in two divisions. The heavyweight division honors were won by a 3,500-pound team entered by Arthur Walton of here while two teams entered by Forrest Hurd of Carey placed second and third. The lightweight contest was won by a 2,730-pound team entered by Floyd Rife of here while a team entered by Dean Wisner placed second and that entered by John Thomas placed third. In a coon dog race about the fairground track, Flash, a hound owned by Conservation Officer T. E. Warner of Sycamore placed first in the time of 1:04.

A program was presented Wednesday evening in front of the grandstand, the crowd again being cut down to a minimum because of the chilly weather. The fair this year has attracted an unusual show of industrial and farm products, while all of the stock barns and exhibit halls are filled to capacity.

MARION FIREMEN ANSWER TWO CALLS

City firemen answered two calls last night and this morning, extinguishing both fires before any serious damage had been done. The West Side company was called to the Melvin Marshall home at 262 Glad street at 9:53 a. m. today to extinguish a roof fire that caused $5 damage. The roof caught fire from chimney sparks. Firemen from the Mark street station extinguished an automobile fire at 9:19 last night at 490 Mary street after E. Ferguson reported the carburetor of his car caught fire when he used a lighted match while hunting for a screw that dropped in the motor. Firemen smothered the blaze before any damage was caused.

TWELVE INITIATED BY EAGLES LODGE

Twelve new members were initiated last night at the regular meeting of the Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles. This raises the total to twenty for the week, eight having been initiated Sunday at the Upper Sandusky district initiation.

The lodge received 11 new applications for membership. Wednesday, Sept. 29, has been set as the next initiation date. Plans for a trip to Columbus Oct. 3 to attend the closing of the statewide membership drive were made. The only requisite for admission to this party is that the active member has secured a new application for membership since the opening of the drive. Ninety from Marion are planning to attend.

The Eagles will enter a team in one of the bowling leagues this year.
